Senior Citizens hold meeting

Thirteen tables of euchre were happily engaged in contest at Senior Citizens last Thursday, when to our pleasant surprise Hon. George Hees and Mrs. Hees accompanied by Graham Mouch called at our club. We appreciated this visit.

Fanny Kane and Carmen Kitchett were tops in the game and Mina Smith and George Heesman were also prize winners. We welcomed three new members, Lydia McKee and George and Helen Searles. A lunch was served by Mary Cook, Fanny Kane, Margaret Fitchett and Luella Bronson.

There is still room for a few on the bus leaving at 8 a.m. for the Winter Fair. This trip costs $3.50 and if you are interested call Lil Heasman, 395-3816. Note the date Nov. 15th.

Hydro hikes all rates 8-10 per cent Jan. 1

Based on rising trends in energy costs, rate increases for all Ontario Hydro customers were announced today by Hydro Chairman George Gathercole.

Interim wholesale rates to municipal commissions will rise by an average of 8%, while the average increase to direct industrial customers will be 12%. Both of these increases are effective January 1, 1973. To retail customers (cottages, farms and rural residences), the average increase is 10% and is effective on bills payable February 5, 1973. There has been no increase in rates to Ontario Hydro direct industrial and rural customers in the last two years, whereas there was an increase of 8% in the interim rates to municipal electricity utilities effective last July 1.

Mr. Gathercole cited inflation and resultant escalation in costs of equipment and supplies, interest rates, wages and salaries, fuels and anti-pollution measures as the causes for the raise.

The Province's 350 municipal utilities, 91 large industrial customers served directly by Ontario Hydro and some 600,000 rural consumers are affected.

Mr. Gathercole said the rate increases will not be sufficient along to meet rising costs and that withdrawals will have to be made from the reserve fund. Generally speaking, this fund has been established to absorb the cost of such factors as variation in stream flows, major physical damage to plants, delays in bringing generating plants into service and exchange risk on debts payable in foreign currency.

A year ago Hydro advised its customers that in spite of intensive cost pressures, there would be a temporary deferment of a rate increase because of the state of the economy. With the improvement in economic conditions, an interim increase of 8% to municipal commissions was made on July 1. But no increase was made at that time to the large industrial customers, whose contract run from January 1 to December 31st, or to rural customers.

Mr. Gathercole said, "In recent years, after a long period of rate stability or decline, spiralling inflation has begun to effect electric costs and rates. Interest rates on borrowed capital, wages and salaries and the price of property, supplies and materials have been rising faster than savings resulting from rising consumption per customer and other economy measures."

"Because Hydro has to operate at cost, rate increases in recent years have had to follow the upward trend in cost of most other goods and services and wages and salaries. For example, between 1961 and 1971, the average cost per kilowatt-hour to municipal residential customers rose 18.6%, but during the same period the consumer price index jumped 34.4% and the average Ontario wage and salary increased 75.9 per cent."

To meet the increasing demand for power, he said Hydro is forced to build more thermal generating plants. Here Hydro is faced not only with rising fuel prices but also costly anti-pollution control measures.

"Inflation is the industry's most grievous problem. However an analysis of prices of other energy sources also reveals a sharp upward trend. And taking into account its long history of rate stability, we believe electricity will continue to be a remarkable bargain," said Mr. Gathercole.

HEES, ELLIS HOLD HASTINGS

Hastings County lived up to its "Conservative" reputation Monday as voters joined in returning a solid block of Progressive Conservative voters from Kingston to Port Hope. Two of the results were surprising in regard to the results as Kingston area voters, which for years supported former Liberal Cabinet Minister J. Edgar Benson, gave a resounding mandate to Mrs. Flora MacDonald, while in Northumberland - Durham, former Ontario cabinet minister Allan Lawrence easily ousted deputy speaker and incumbent for three terms, Russell Honey.

Closer to home, former Trade Minister George Hees easily retained Prince Edward Hastings, tripling his previous majority over Liberal George Cunningham with NDP standard bearer Richard Lunn coming in third. In Hastings riding, Jack Ellis won the battle of the ex-mayors thumping Frank Follwell by about 5,100 votes, with Elridge Brethour trailing for the NDP. This riding had been held for recent years by Lee Grills, who did not seek re-election. In Frontenac - Lennox and Addington, Douglas Alkenbrack retained his seat with a substantial majority, despite the furor over the penitentiary issue.

In Stirling, Rawdon, and the three polls in North Sidney, Hees won by a large margin. He carried Stirling 605,183-41; Rawdon 716,182-32; North Sidney 417,177-65. Total Votes for these three polls, unofficially, is Hees 1,738; Cunningham 542 and Lunn 188.

Here are the results poll by poll, giving Cunningham, Hees and Lunn in that order as they appeared on the ballot: 142 - Community Hall - (A-J): 40, 126, 4; (K-Z): 44, 93, 4; 143 - Masonic Hall - 52, 185, 15; 144 - Masonic Hall - 38, 180, 18; 144 - Edward Street Manor - 9, 21 and nil; Total Stirling vote was 829, or about 80 per cent turnout.

RAWDON TOWNSHIP
145 - Clifford Heath - 33, 121, 12; 145 - Mt. Pleasant - 40, 103, 10; 147 - Wellman's - 21, 122, 13; 148 - Minto - 29, 83, 2; 149 - Spring Brook - 28, 163, 23; 150 - Moore Store - 31, 97, 22.

Senior citizens complex coming

The Loyal Orange Lodge intends to begin the first phase of a 56-unit senior citizens' housing project at Batawa next spring.

Bernard Hollinger, representing the Ontario East Triangle Court development, said the lodge wants to build four one-story buildings in the first stage, each having four housing units.

He said this would be followed in the next few years with 10 more buildings and an administration centre.

However, several difficulties face the developer, particularly the problem of securing adequate water service.

Hollinger said the lodge would like to get water from the Bata Industries plant but is concerned about the expense of pipes to feed the complex.

Reeve Jack Bush told the rep-

Across the country, the Liberals retained governing power by the slimmest of majorities at last count, 108-107. The New Democrats, with 33 or so seats, really are the governing force in the country, as an alliance with the Liberals would keep them in power so long as the Prime Minister agreed to take immediate measures to combat unemployment, the rising cost of living and end the major tax loopholes for corporations, which David Lewis used as his major campaign theme. Should the Liberals not choose to adopt such policies, Lewis indicated clearly Monday night he would not support them. Voting with the Conservatives, he could bring about the government's downfall.

The fact that the Liberals held on to power can be attributed at the moment to the fact the Commons Speaker Lucien Lamoureux regained his seat as an independent, and assuming he keeps the speakership he has handled with dignity and decorum; this would leave Mr. Trudeau with an edge of one over the PCs and the right to form a government.

As far as the life of any minority government is concerned, two factors must be weighed before bringing on another election, the cost of holding one - recent estimates were $17 million to stage the present one, (this is administrative cost, not what the candidates spend), balanced against what harm might be caused in the view of the opposition, should the government continue.

Official standings will not be known for some time, until the advance polls and service vote are calculated and the returning officers make their official submissions to the chief electoral officer. Whatever the final outcome, it appears Canada is in for a period of governmental uncertainty, unless some reasonable compromise can be struck between the Liberals and NDP, or should the former fall, the PCs be asked to form a government, and the NDP find them amicable political bedfellows.

Pedestrians must take care

For one reason or another 46 persons were on foot alongside Ontario highways during the first half of this year when they were struck and killed by a moving vehicle. Last year 140 pedestrians were killed and another 803 were injured.

Persons who must walk along a highway for any reason should stay well away from the travelled portion.

The Ontario Provincial Police Force reminds all citizens that large portions of controlled access highways are prohibited to pedestrians and that persons convicted of contravening provisions of the Highway Traffic Act Regulations may be subject to a fine of not less than $20 and not more than $100.

As winter approaches, bad weather creating slippery walking and driving conditions, poor visibility caused by snow, road slush and dirt on windshields, will combine with the elements and early darkness to make all walking and driving more hazardous. In addition to a general increased alertness, pedestrians should wear suitable clothing that will make themselves as visible as possible. Motorists with disabled vehicles who suddenly become pedestrians should exercise more concern about their personal safety than the fact that their car has stopped running.

Recent Ministry of Transportation and Communications figures show that about one in every four persons killed and one in 10 injured in traffic is a pedestrian.

Remember - Walk Defensively.

Trent Valley area convention

(By Mrs. Percy MacMullen)

The 40th annual meeting of the Trent Valley Convention area was held Tuesday and Wednesday, Oct. 24 and 25 in Northminster United Church, Sunset Blvd., Peterborough. The theme of this friendly convention was "Vision with Action." The banners of the seven districts with the names of the various branch institutes in blue and gold, also the area banner and a yellow sun were used as decoration.

As the guests arrived they were invited to have coffee and cookies in the display room. Here was a large collection of articles made by institute members and 4-H Club girls. A full line of institute cups and saucers and bulletins of the Federated Women's Institutes of Ontario and also of Canada, and The Associated Country Women of the World were displayed. The various badges were nestled on a plush cushion and institute members were reminded to be proud of their badge and to wear it. Special attention was paid to the Friendship Link department with a nice assortment of items received by one institute. The Area, Tweedsmuir History Book was given a special table where the delegates could sit and view the contents.

The Pennies for Friendship were collected at each dinner meal and the balance of the Peterborough cookies were sold to augment this fund.

The special addresses were given by Miss Helen McKercher, Home Economics Service, Toronto, and Mrs. H. Noblitt, Ottawa, president of the Federated Women's Institutes of Ontario.

Gifts were presented to Mrs. Gordon McCulloch and Mrs. W.C. Mann who have completed their terms of office.

On Tuesday the ladies of the church served 259 ladies a hot dinner. The dessert was anniversary cake and ice cream in honor of the 75th anniversary. On Wednesday almost 150 women were served the noon meal by the church ladies.

A large lettered poster in honor of the 75th anniversary of Women's Institutes was placed in the church on Tuesday afternoon. Below was an artificial cake in white with gold trimming and flanked with royal blue candles.

The lettering was "1897-1972 in honor of the first institute in Ontario organized at Sney Creek." We can make united nations, for the choice is mine and yours; We can save the mighty nations from the endless chain of wars; We thy people of the nations with united heart agree; We will make united nations and the world in peace will be.

During Wednesday afternoon over 140 ladies were given a tour of Trent University. Members of the staff conducted the various groups and explained many details. The University was opened in 1964 with 105 undergraduate students. The Champlain College for men, the Lady Eaton College for women, the Thomas J. In return for the hide and lower jaw, we are giving a "hand cooker."

When donating the deer hides and jaws, please be sure your name, address, sex of deer, and location or township where the deer was killed.

A sad story

About the only misfortune, it seems, that has not befallen Glencoe Hogle's vacant family farmstead on Highway 2, five miles west of Belleville, is that it is not haunted. At least, not to anyone's knowledge.

The story of the farm property and home owned by Stirling funeral director Hogle and its fate since around 1965 makes dismal reading.

The building's interior and appointments have been badly vandalized and the damage has even been extended to machinery in nearby outbuildings.

If the house became a haven for transient hippies, would they not have found it preferable to press up such comforts as existed? And no doubt these were considerable since Mr. Hogle once rented the place out as apartments and later used it himself as a summer home while also farming the property.

But that was in the years leading up to 1965 and a lot of water has passed under the bridge since then. There has been a new morality abroad since then and it embraces a wide range of mental aberration which vandalism is only one manifestation.

We sympathize with Mr. Hogle and can only conclude that a home is best lived in, or rented out to responsible tenants. Located on a main highway, as it is, the Hogle property may well have been a haven for transients, not to mention some of the more footloose and reckless of our own local ne'er-do-wells.

Letter to the editor

ONE MAN'S OPINION - IF THE SHOE FITS, WEAR IT WITHOUT PREJUDICE

Dear Sir:

It is so unbelievable that so much uncontrollable educational insomniacs among the Youth and Young Folk of the Montrose Boulevard Area on #2 Highway between Belleville and Trenton, that can only come from and coupled with Parental Lunacy, sophisticated as they may be, as well as the Pre-Historic Addicts seeking after United Empire Loyalists History of the Eighteenth Century that these people have no respect for Private Property in any capacity as evidence exists in this lovely Old Bayside home - so much destroyed, both inside and outside as well as to the adjacent buildings housing farm equipment, machinery, tractor, combine, etc.

The Little Old Red School House, known as S.S. #2 Bayside, taught more sound logical education and respect for Personal Property owned by others, even if they had to walk too far and from this school up to two miles in any direction, winter and summer, as well as producing some of the most talented folk that the Province of Ontario could ever brag about.

Now you will find adjacent to this School House, a most elaborate half a billion dollar structure, capable of educating the most deplorable transported lunatics comparable to any foreign country in the world - such as piracy, break and enter, destructibility, sex maniacs and the molesting of Banks, Private Properties and so on. The so-called Ontario Regional Government and Associated Assessments and Health Departments and farm and small Municipalities, as well as Planning Boards, are so corrupt today that it astounds the clear thinking men of yester-year who cannot realize that this condition could ever come to pass in such a few short years.

This property that is above mentioned, stands as evidence of the inhumanity to man and personal property, that exists in this day and age (unbelievable).

This entire Provincial System needs changing badly from top to bottom. NOW - NOT TO.

MORROW - NO MORE.

This is Non-Political and actual facts. Educate to the tune of the Hickory Stick, respectability, and supported by the Cat-and-Nine Tails. You'll get along so much better TOGETHER and LIVE LONGER.

HOME'S FATE

EDITOR'S NOTE - This article, the letter to the editor from G. H. Hogle and this week's editorial are all connected with Mr. Hogle's property mentioned, which is located on Highway 2, west of Belleville, and the vandalism which has taken place. The News-Argus inspected this property last spring and took photos for an insurance claim which was disavowed. The articles originally published in the Belleville Intelligencer are reprinted here to acquaint local residents with a situation involving a local resident.

Glencoe Hogle owns a family heirloom that's maliciously disintegrating around him.

It's happening at the vacant family farmstead on Highway #2, five miles west of Belleville, in the family since the 1900's and believed by its owner to date back more than a century.

About the only thing still intact is the ownership. Havoc has been done the house itself.

So much so, Mr. Hogle, Stirling funeral director, figures it's unsalable - if he ever wanted to sell it - since repair costs would now equal its purchase price.

But the cost seems beside the point. What appears to stun Mr. Hogle is who's behind the wreck - age - and why.

He says he's not angry - just baffled.

"It's just unbelievable, inconceivable," he says of the events, which first started about two years ago.

His father ran the farm at the turn of the century and Mr. Hogle purchased it from his mother's estate in the 1930s, when he practised in Toronto as a funeral director. For a time, he rented the house as apartments to air-men from the newly-built Trenton air station. Later, he quit renting and kept the house as a summer home, working its 78 acres with mainly hay and grain crops. The practice continued after he moved to Stirling in 1965.

Then the break-ins started and have continued sporadically since, each one marked by a mounting toll of damage.

Furniture, fixtures, plumbing, heating and walls have been wrecked, the debris strewn around rooms and stairs. There's human waste in spots.

The vandalism has extended to machinery in nearby outbuildings.

Nearby residents have not been able to help with information. Police can't be criticized since they'd need to be on the spot when a break-in occurs, he stresses.

He claims uncertainty about the value of the house but figures the damage toll is "several thousands... several big thousands."

But it's not a case of money, but of an heirloom, "he explained after touring the shambles with provincial police. "I'm amazed it's still standing. But with what's happened you could expect anything. If they can destroy the contents, they can destroy the building."

But who? Police have one theory. The house, unused for long stretches, may have become known to transient hippie youth, using it as a stopover on their travels.

"I don't know, I'm just baffled, baffled entirely," says Mr. Hogle.

DOWN THE TRACK

I'm feeling pretty virtuous lately.

I've been doing a very Canadian thing, and at the same time I'm cutting back on my personal contribution to air pollution and the depletion of our natural resources.

Instead of sitting alone in a two-ton car in a traffic jam along my 12-mile route to work, I'm riding in comfort on a train.

It's great and it's cheap.

Train fare is $1.50 a day for me. I spent that on gasoline with no considering wear and tear on the car and the ruinous cost of parking in Toronto.

It's really amazing that more people don't take advantage of commuter services at morning and evening rush hours.

Of course the railways have not been over-anxious to promote passenger service, but as far as I'm concerned it's the only way to commute if the service is available. There's none of the strain in fighting traffic. There's just an easy ride that leaves you free to read the paper, catch up on paperwork or look out the window.

Looking out that window is an education in itself. Main streets and expressways pass the parts of cities and towns that are dressed up for company. The trains come in the back door and you see the other side - where the houses and factories aren't beautified.

That's the side where the work gets done and it has a rough vitality you miss when you drive on scenic parkways.

Look at the auto wrecking yard with cranes already piling gutted hulks. The cars in the rush-hour rat race will be in those graveyards before mine.

There's an arc welder spitting sparks at sunrise - it's like a personal fireworks display.

A deserted school playground, a dip into a ravine with autumn colors and no trace of man, - there's a lot to see when you don't have to keep your eyes on the road.

Do You Remember?

25 Years Ago

Night classes in Farm Mechanics and General Shop work for the young men of the Village and surrounding community will again be sponsored by the Stirling Board of Education at the local High School during the winter months.

Wolves are increasing so much in the Campbellford area that they are a real menace to sheep growers. Charles Gordon and Gary Colden, of Bonarlaw, displayed five dead ones in Campbellford which they had caught early Tuesday morning. Gordon and Colden are experienced trappers, having bagged 15 within the past six weeks.

On Wednesday evening, Oct. 20, the student and teachers of Stirling High School enjoyed the first Students' Council evening of the season.

St John's Anglican Church was well filled last night for the induction of Rev. A. J. Anderson as Rector of St. John's Church, Stirling. Trinity Church, Frankford, and St. Thomas Church, Tawdon.

The impressive service was conducted by the Right Reverend John Lyons, M.A., D.D., of Kingston, and the Lord Bishop of Ontario assisted by the clergy of the Diocese.

Messrs. John Shaw and F.T. Ward have each had a long distance telephone installed in their shops during the past week.

At the Stirling cheese board on Tuesday 610 boxes of cheese were offered. Mr. B. Bird bought 80 at 12 1/16¢. The balance were unsold.

Deer hunters are now required to make affidavit as to the number of deer killed in the hunting season, and return the same to the department within two weeks after the close of the season. The penalty for neglecting this is a fine of $50.

On Friday afternoon the railway bridge on the G.T.R., about two miles east of here was burned, and the mail train from Peterborough narrowly escaped being wrecked. It appears that the bridge had caught fire from some sparks from the engine of a passing freight train, and was soon seen by Mr. Wm. Keegan, who lives near and who endeavored with the assistance of his family to extinguish the fire. Seeing that it had got beyond their control, Mr. Keegan sent his young son to mile up the track to flag the incoming Peterborough train. The little fellow was just in time. There is a bad curve just at this point. The train was coming at its usual speed, when the engineer saw young Keegan making the signals and the train was stopped about a rod away from the bridge, which had burned so badly that it had dropped into the creek. Several of the passengers walked from the scene of the disaster to Madoc Junction, a distance of about two miles to catch the Madoc train.

A number of men were at once set to work to rebuild the bridge, and in a short time trains were running as usual.

The Printed Word

How a paper is compiled

The physical size of the paper in terms of the number of pages that will be printed is determined by the advertising department. This comes about because here is where the revenue is determined by the volume of advertising for a particular issue. As one wag has put it -- "the news is what you fit around the ads to fill up space." This may be basically true, but there must be a reasonable balance. While it varies among papers, and is governed by many circumstances, a general rule to follow is about sixty percent advertising and forty percent editorial content.

Using this as a guide, the ad manager or layout man (or woman), using a predetermined formula, decides how many pages will be in the issue. If the case is borderline, one time he may decide to have a paper a little heavier on ads, another heavy on news. These are arbitrary decisions, and while large companies may have so-called rigid rules, mitigating circumstances dictate the final choice.

Once his pages are known, the layout man proceeds to make up what are known as "dummies" or small pages with the ads located according to size, special customer preference, etc. These are done in duplicate, with one set showing the names of the advertiser going to the composing room, the other showing usually only the ads as blocks outlined, to the editor.

In making up these dummies the layout man must remember a host of details which come with experience and knowledge of his particular paper and its customers. First he designates which pages will be editorial (usually page four), the comics, and classified advertising section. If there are special departments, such as sports, woman's, district, he also names these, as certain ads will go there.

In locating the ads, these are some of the things to keep in mind -- (a) no two customers in the same business on the same, or if possible, even facing pages; (b) certain customers have, through time or for contract considerations, been allocated certain pages at all times -- i.e. back page, sports, etc.; (c) some ads by virtue of their nature should be on a certain page; (d) if there is colored ink to consider, the ad concerned must be in a special location; (e) avoid conflicting combinations such as church and liquor or beer ads on the same page; (f) national agency clients often request certain pages or a particular part of the paper.

In addition, the layout man must make sure he gets all the ads on the log in, so there is no custom-er irate at being omitted.

Now the paper is in the hands of the editor. He must try to locate his material so it will be not only readable, but try to display it in the way that will look most pleasing and acceptable. Aside from the stories that are allocated to certain pages due to their nature, the editor must decide which should be placed on the remaining pages. He must also take into consideration certain criteria when doing his layouts: (a) don't run a story critical of cars on the same page as a General Motors ad, for example; (b) try and make sure there is room on special pages for the material on hand, otherwise allocate another page, or hold some stories for the next edition; (c) if he has leftover news, make sure it gets in the next edition before it becomes too stale.

The stage has now been reached where the production staff can take over. They have received the ads, the stories and the layouts showing how it all should be put together, if the front office people have done their job correctly. It is now up to the "back shop" to translate pen and pencil products into type so it can be printed.

Hold Friendship service here

The annual Friendship service for all churches was held on Wednesday evening at St. Paul's United church with Mrs. Ray Keating, U.C.W. president welcoming all.

St. James's church group, Sandra LaChapelle, Elizabeth and Marie Kerby, and Jack Sontrop sang two numbers with guitar accompaniment.

With the singing of "This is my Father's world", the Devotional service began with these three words taken from the Bible and given by Mrs. Ross Jeffs, "And God Said", followed by readings from Mrs. Gerald Russell and Mrs. Ernest Carr telling of the many ways Man is provided for -- trees for lumber, warmth and shade; cattle for food and milk; sun and rain for food and growth; and God said, "Let there be light and darkness, a time to work and a time to rest."

Tributes to man were displayed on tables by Mrs. Robert Hoard and Mrs. Herb Smith, from Mount Pleasant, Bethel, and St. John's

IODE Chapter holds meeting

The Hon. J.R. Cooke Chapter I.O.D.E. met at the home of Mrs. Carman Fitchett on Thursday evening, Oct. 26. The Regent Mrs. Carl Bostak opened the meeting with the IODE Prayer. Mrs. Robert Burgess read the minutes of the last meeting which were approved. Miss Rosa Spry called the roll with 16 members answering it. Correspondence was read by Mrs. Burgess.

This was followed with the business of the meeting. It was decided to have a card party on Monday, Nov. 13 in the Community Hall.

The Regent, Mrs. Carl Bostak, called on five members to come forward. Mrs. Bostak and Miss Rosa Spry presented each member with a 25-year pin and a sash. These members were Mrs. Donald McIntosh, Mrs. Edwin Warren, Mrs. Donald Rodgers, Mrs. Earl Johnson and Mrs. Edward Reynolds. Mrs. Bruce Bell also presented Mrs. Robert Hough, Past Regent, with a gift. Mrs. Hough thanked everyone for helping her while she was in the stair.

The Regent closed the meeting by all singing the Queen. This was followed with a few games of court of which the winners were Mrs. Burgess, Mrs. Burrell, Mrs. Warren and Mrs. Porritt.

A lovely lunch of 25th anniversary cake, ice cream, tea and coffee was served by the hostess and her committee. Mrs. Donald Rodgers moved a vote of thanks to the hostess and her committee and to all who helped with the meeting. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Donald Rodgers on Thursday evening, Nov. 30 at 8 p.m.

churches. Closing this Devotional was the singing of "For the beauty of the earth", with Mrs. Roy Taylor as pianist.

Miss Barbara Vardy sang a sacred number, "I do not worry for tomorrow", with Mrs. Kenneth Broadworth as piano accompanist.

The offering was taken by Mrs. Ray Donnan and Mrs. Melville Grills from Good Tidings church. $64. was collected and this will be a special gift from the Friendship circle to help the Plainfield Retarded children.

"The Lifeline", an imaginary T.V. skit was presented by Mrs. John May and Mrs. George Williams. A "Why Not Call" problem program and humorous commercials were staged between calls by Mrs. Maurice Clancy and Mrs. Jack Bush. These problems coming by telephone were: (1) Mrs. M. Donnan, "An elderly lady lives a secluded life;" (2) Mrs. Bogart, "Too much cooking is called by the church;" (3) Mrs. Stanley Meeks, "The teenage discipline;" (4) Mrs. Bruce Murray, "The lonely neighbour;" (5) Mrs. James Hoard, "The stubborn child;" (6) Mrs. Kenneth Tompkins "TV shows with crime and drink."

All went into groups of numbers given by Mrs. White at the door. This was for discussion on each subject and each were to bring in recommendations. The replies given were: (1) lady lives secluded life -- "Two women should go and visit instead of one, make calls brief, pleasant and often;" (2) too much cooking -- "Invite this woman to a church supper and ask her to help. She will then see food is needed to help raise money for the church, and she will also make friends;" (3) discipline of a teenager -- "The parent's example and wise guidance given should help them to know the right road to travel;" (4) the lonely woman in our midst -- "Where are her neighbors, the women of the church, and her minister?" (5) the stubborn child -- "If all discipline has failed contact a family counsellor or your doctor;" (6) TV showing crime -- "These actors are trained to entertain and make it appear to be a normal thing. They are sometimes overacted and not a natural performance."

Mrs. Blake Faulkner closed with prayer. Mrs. James Boughen gave the leadership in the buffet luncheon of fruit jellies, cake, tea and coffee. During the social time Mrs. K. Tompkins voiced appreciation to one and all for attending -- the singing, the impressive Devotional service, the skit of problems, and the lunch.

Ivanhoe Women's Institute

Mrs. Donald Wilson opened her home for our November meeting and Mrs. Dan Cooke opened the meeting with the Institute Ode and Mary Stewart Collect. Roll call and minutes of the last meeting were read and approved. During the business the members discussed about catering to the Federation of Agriculture banquet.

It was moved by Mrs. H. Cooke and seconded by Mrs. Ross that we donate $5.00 to a girl and $5.00 to a boy for graduation exercises from West Huntingdon and White Lake area and the same be presented by an Institute member or representative.

Moved by Mrs. H. Cooke and seconded by Mrs. B. Haggerty that Mrs. R. Sills be sent as a delegate to Peterborough to Institute Convention and Mrs. Ross the alternate.

A bus trip was discussed for November and Velma Searles introduced the guest speaker, Mr. Harold Martin. He spoke on many kinds of investments which was very educational for everyone to hear. Mrs. L. Sills thanked Mr. Martin for coming out and presented him with a gift. After our guest speaker left Pres. Mrs. D. Cooke finished with the rest of our Institute business. Moved by M. Haggerty and seconded by Tillie Cooke that we keep up the donation to Save the Children fund for another year. Mrs. P. Roper gave current events on Political affairs.

The collection and pennies for friendship were gathered, and Mrs. D. Cooke closed the meeting with the Queen. Mrs. Donald Wilson and her assistants served a dainty lunch.

by Margaret BrookfieldA FORUM ABOUT MATURE WOMEN

HUSBAND SAYS NO
Dear Margaret Brookfield:
I get so depressed some times. At the beginning of each month, after buying our groceries and paying the bills, we have so little money left. There's hardly anything left for clothing and shoes. I wanted to get a job, but my husband says no. He claims that my going to work would mean he cannot keep us. As it is, he works very hard, sometimes as much as 65 hours a week. What can I do to make him change his mind about my working? I've been thinking about going to a psychiatrist, but cannot afford one.

R. O.

Dear R.O.:
Some men are still living in the stone age. They think they're fearless hunters who singlehandedly must feed and sustain their families. They overlook the fact that a substantial number of women today are working outside the home. (About 33 million women are currently in the labor force, with the majority between the ages of 45 and 54.) Half the women who work, the Labor Department says, do so out of urgent financial need. Others work to provide their families with "extras" or for personal reasons. You might bring these facts to your husband's attention. You might also point out your general morale would improve considerably if you had a job. (If your husband wants to "keep" you, he should show some interest in your state of mind.) Perhaps he should think about himself a little too: in this day and age, 65 hours is a pretty rough work week.

AWFULLY LATE?
Dear Margaret Brookfield:
I'm 52 years old and married. I'm rather worried as I still have my periods. Most of my friends claim I'm awfully late. Maybe it's because I've never had a family. I'm really concerned about this.

C.M.

Dear C.M.:
Don't be concerned. A generation ago, many women (whether they had children or not) went into the menopause when they were in their early 40's. More recently, however, the late 40's and early 50's seem to be a more characteristic age. And of course, there are individual differences as well. Some women start younger; some later. In any case, it's always a good idea for the woman over 40 to see her doctor for regular checkups. Then, when her menopause begins, should there be any difficult symptoms, these can be dealt with. If these problems are of a hormonal nature, many physicians may prescribe estrogen replacement therapy to alleviate them. Why not see your own doctor about that checkup? And you might also inform your lady friends they're way behind the times.

TIME TO MOVE ON
Dear Margaret Brookfield:
Almost a year ago, my husband passed away. (We'd been married for 36 years.) Since then I've done absolutely nothing. Instead of selling some of my furniture and moving into a small apartment, as I should, I've stayed on in our three-bedroom rented house. Normally I'm a very happy person and my health is excellent. But these days I seem to have no drive or incentive for anything. I have three children—all married and living out of the state—who want me to move near them so I won't be all alone. However, I have lovely friends here, and would like to make it on my own for a couple of years until I know what to do. My problem is that in all my years of marriage, I've never had a paying job. Truthfully, I'm afraid of taking that first step into the business world. For the past five years however, I have worked as a volunteer (one and often two days a week) at our local hospital, serving at the front desk as "surgical hostess." That's been my only "job" experience. Would you have any suggestions for me?

O. Q.

Dear O.Q.:
No wonder you're having difficulties. The habit-patterns of 36 years of marriage are not so easily modified. But now that

Burning Rectal Itch Relieved In Minutes

Exclusive Healing Substance
Relieves Pain As It
Shrinks Hemorrhoids.

If you want satisfactory relief from "itching piles"—here's the good news! A renowned research laboratory has found a unique healing substance that promptly relieves the burning itch and pain—actually shrinks hemorrhoids. This substance has been shown to produce a most effective rate of healing. Its germ-killing properties also help prevent infection.

In case after case "very striking improvement" was noted, even among cases of long standing. And this improvement was maintained over a period of months!

This was accomplished by a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne)—which quickly helps heal injured cells and stimulate growth of new tissue. Now Bio-Dyne is offered in convenient and suppository form called Preparation "H". Ask for it at all drug stores—satisfaction or money refunded.

nearly a year has passed, you should be more ready to re-arrange your life.

Housing and employment, as you say, are your two main areas of concern. As for the former, you seem to be clear in your mind about what needs to be done. Since you rent, you should be able to handle your moving fealty. Perhaps a bit more complicated is the matter of employment. Here too, you're not without resources. Why not contact the employment office at the hospital where you've been a volunteer? Discuss your interest in employment with them. If they don't have anything available at present, they might have some helpful suggestions to make.

NORMAL FEMALE

Should the pregnancy test be negative, notes Dr. Ryan, he gives his patients a complete physical examination to establish that her periods are ending because of the menopause. "If this is the case, we can reassure her that she's normal," he explains. Even though the patient may not have symptoms "judged to be menopausal," Dr. Ryan asserts, "we will follow her with tests at six-month intervals to see if she might be getting low on estrogen." Should she show such a deficiency, he will prescribe estrogen therapy, he says, "to replace the hormone her ovaries have stopped producing."

Women going through the menopause, Dr. Ryan points out, can also become concerned about the aging processes which might follow it. These, he explains, include such physiologic changes as the drying of the skin and the hair as well. "Now we can assure such women," he declares, "that we have the replacement therapy to help prevent some of these changes."

SERIOUS PROBLEM

The mature woman who finds herself pregnant would be well advised, Dr. Ryan suggests, to discuss the implications of this with her physician. She should know, for example, he points out, that the incidence of abnormal babies increases about ten-fold for mothers in the over-35 age group. "It's really a serious problem," he notes, "and when you get up in the 40's and over age range, the increase is probably even greater." However, it's now possible, he points out, to do genetic studies—by sampling the fluid around the fetus—which indicates whether or not the child will be normal at birth.

While the woman in menopause may have these various problems she's also concerned about the prospects for continuing her sexual activity, Dr. Ryan observes. "We try to convince her there should be no change," he says. "We would like to keep her a functional woman as long as she lives."

In all forms of rheumatic diseases, which include arthritis, good food is important, not as a cure but to help offset some of the effects of the disease.

I HAVE NEVER GONE HUNGRY.
I DON'T KNOW WHAT WAR IS!

WHAT IS HUNGER?
WHAT IS A CONCENTRATION CAMP?
WHAT IS A RAZZIA?
WHAT IS A BOMB?
WHAT IS FEAR?

I KNOW WE ARE FREE!
I KNOW WHO LIBERATED US!
I KNOW WHAT THEY SACRIFICED!

Thanks a million for our freedom!

Newlyweds are honored

(By Mrs. Percy MacMullen)
On Saturday evening, Oct. 28th, a community shower was held in Mount Pleasant Church Hall in honor of the newlyweds, Mr. and Mrs. John Cosbey (nee Joyce Jeffe).
Rev. W.C. Cox was master of ceremonies for the program. Mrs. W.C. Cox conducted the assembly singing with Mrs. Garth Joslin as accompanist.
Mrs. Percy MacMullen contributed an elocution number "The Matrimonial Storm."
Jackie Barrett and Gail Merrick sang with Mrs. Jim Thain as accompanist.
Humorous selections were read by Mrs. Vernon Harry, Mrs. Ross Jeffs and Mrs. Harry McAdam.

Mount Pleasant

(By Mrs. Percy MacMullen)
John Holmes and his sister, Miss Annie Holmes spent several days with relatives in the Kingston area. On Sunday, Oct. 22nd a birthday dinner party was held at the home Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Martin, Collins Bay, in honor of her grandfather, John Holmes, who observed his 87th birthday anniversary on Monday, Oct. 23. On Monday his daughter, in-law, Roberta and her husband, Earl Stephens, Kingston, entertained in his honor.
Eleven members of Mount Pleasant attended Hoard's afternoon tea and bazaar on Wednesday afternoon, Oct. 25. They were Mrs. Robert Hoard, Mrs. Stanley Williams, Mrs. J. Sager, Mrs. Harvey Couch, Mrs. Mac Sharp, Mrs. Kenneth Weaver, Mrs. Clair Knight, Mrs. Herbert Smith, Mrs. Albert Hubble, Mrs. Douglas Pyear and Mrs. George Grills.
Mrs. Percy MacMullen, a former officer of the Trent Valley Area Women's Institutes attended the four sessions on Tuesday and Wednesday at Northminster United Church, Peterborough. On Wednesday morning the area from Keene was covered with snow. The landscape was beautiful and the snow on the leaves of the trees was a picture of loveliness. During the afternoon over 140 women were given a walking tour of Trent University.
Mrs. Fred Smith, Bradley Bay, spent last week with Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Jeffs and family. She also attended the shower party Saturday evening at the church hall.

On Wednesday evening, Oct. 25, 16 members of Mount Pleasant U.C.W. attended the Fellowship meeting at St. Paul's United Church, Stirling. Mrs. Robert Hoard, Mrs. Herbert Smith, Mrs. Ross Jeffs and Mrs. James Hoard assisted with the program. Others attending were Mrs. Elden Chapman, Mrs. Garth Joslin, Mrs. Marguerite McMullen, Mrs. Claire Knight, Mrs. Mac Sharp, Mrs. Percy MacMullen, Mrs. Kenneth Weaver, Mrs. Stanley Williams, Mrs. Allan Howes, Mrs. Donald Knight, Mrs. Ira David and Mrs. Don Campbell.

Bethel U.C.W.

Bethel U.C.W. held their regular meeting at the home of Mrs. G. Russell on Oct. 26. A few members were present in Thanksgiving Meditation. With Mrs. V. Hagerman at the piano, the hymn, "Sing to the Lord of harvest" was sung. Fifteen ladies answered the roll call with a verse containing the word "corn".

The Bible Study, Jesus of Nazareth, His Opposition, was given by Mrs. T. Clements. Portions of Mark, chapters two and three, were read by Mrs. Ketchen, Mrs. Carlisle, Mrs. Johnston and Mrs. Clements. The older Jewish customs were compared to the way of life that Jesus taught. The evil in the world is represented by the Devil who seems to have a lot of control.

Mrs. D. Heath was in charge of the Worship Service. The first two verses of "Now, thank we all our God" was sung. Portions of Scripture were read by Mrs. Johnston and Psalm 100 was read in unison. Mrs. G. Sine led in prayer. The theme for meditation was Thanksgiving. Do we complain more than we show gratitude? What are some practical ways to turn Thanksgiving into Thank-giving. Mrs. H. Holm gave a reading and the last verse of the hymn was sung.

Mrs. E. Ketchen gave a resume of the Fall Rally at Spring Brook. The offering was received and dedicated. A short business session followed and the meeting closed with the Benediction. Refreshments were served by the hostess and her assistants, and a social time enjoyed. Mrs. D. Heath moved a vote of appreciation.

TODAY'S CHILD

BY HELEN ALLEN

THE TORONTO SUN SYNDICATE

At 10, Roy has not yet decided on a career for himself. But it would not be surprising if some one thought of steering this handsome youngster towards being a model. Can't you see him pictured in the latest of boys' sports wear?

That would be appropriate in other ways besides looks because Roy is a sports enthusiast. He plays all kinds of games with zest, hockey being the favorite. He also enjoys riding his bike and thinks camping is the ideal life. Another interest is building models and he is fond of music.

An unsettled period in his life resulted in Roy spending 11 months in a Children's Residential Centre. He responded well to therapy and has been out of the centre for a year.

Roy still needs patient and constant controls but is basically a delightful boy, outspoken and honest with a good sense of humor. He is lively, active, impish and competitive.

French-Canadian in descent, Roy is a healthy, husky lad with big dark eyes, brown hair and clear, tanned skin. He is in Grade four, below the average for his age but doing satisfactory work.

This likeable lad needs young, energetic, understanding parents. It would be ideal if he could be the only child or one of a small family with no other children close to him in age. Roy is asking for "a family of my own" and adopting parents will indeed be rewarded if through warmth and patience they can convince him that he wanted and loved.

To inquire about adopting Roy, please write to Today's Child, Box 888, Station K, Toronto. For general adoption information, please contact your Children's Aid Society.

Wallace - David

Rosedale United Church in Toronto was the setting for the recent wedding ceremony of Frances Raye David, of Toronto, daughter of Mrs. Ira David, Stirling, and the late Mr. Ira David, and William Hamilton Wallace, Toronto, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. Wallace of Orangeville. Rev. Ronald Henderson performed the ceremony.

The bride, given in marriage by Frank Livesey of Toronto, chose a white floor-length sleeveless gown of peau de sole with lace yoke. A floor length white hooded lace coat enhanced her gown. The bride carried a posy.

MRS. FRED W. BARNUM

The funeral for Mrs. Cora M. Barnum was held in Weaver Funeral Home, Campbellford, Ont. on Oct. 26, 1972 at 2 p.m. with Rev. Gordon Whitehouse officiating. Interment was in Zion Cemetery.

Mrs. Barnum died at Edward Street Manor, Stirling, Oct. 24th, in her 87th year. She was born in Rawdon township, the daughter of the late John A. Meiklejohn and the former Mary Morton and had lived at Stirling for the past two years. Previously she had lived at Campbellford for 11 years and before that in Seymour township. She had been in failing health for two years.

Mrs. Barnum was predeceased by her husband, Fred W. Barnum and is survived by two sons, Roy of Campbellford and Donald of Guelph, two daughters, Mrs. Albert (Evelyn) Case of Islington and Mrs. James (Helen) Lymes of Belleville, eight grandchildren and two great-grandchildren. There are two sisters, Mrs. Mary Oddie, R.R. 3, Campbellford and Mrs. Emma Water, Campbellford. Mrs. Barnum was predeceased by a sister, Mrs. Margaret McKeown.

Mrs. Barnum was a former organist of Zion United Church and a former member of Zion United Church Women. She had taught Sunday School at the church and was a charter member of Rylstone Women's Institute.

Three of Stirling's present municipal representatives will seek to retain their present positions for the next two year term if the local electors are agreeable. Four members made their declaration at the November meeting held last Wednesday night, while Fred Brandt had made his intentions known at the October meeting.

Reeve Robert Anderson led off the announcements stating after giving the matter serious thought he had decided to stand again. He felt there were some matters still to be concluded this council had initiated and he would like to see them finished.

Councillor Edward Klompaker commented in the same vein, and felt there were still some things to be done which he would like to see handled while on council. Maurice Faulkner also indicated that he would seek another term. He was appointed earlier this year to fill out the term of Douglas Bensley, who resigned.

In announcing his decision not to seek re-election, Maurice Montgomery said if he had more time, he would like to contest the deputy reeve position and ultimately try for reeve, but with work pressures, and the fact that when he was absent from his business it could result in lost customers, led him to the decision to not run again.

He said he had enjoyed the council work.

Fred Brandt commented that it had been a good council, and there had been good leadership. He indicated he would not see the village stuck for municipal officers. He also added he felt it was unfair that he was absent most of the day and any complaints came mostly to the other three and the reeve.

Reeve Anderson and Councillors Klompaker and Faulkner have taken out nomination papers and the reeve announced his were already signed and ready for filing.

Ratepayers should take notice that it is up to persons willing to run for public office to get nomination for the office they wish to contest from Clerk W.L. Pollock. These must be signed by any 10 eligible voters, and filed with the clerk between November 9 and 13.

If they wish, any one may withdraw their papers before 5 p.m. on November 14, but after that time, those with papers filed must stand for election to the office they chose, or be acclaimed, if the only one nominated.

Residents should also notice that this year, for the first time, the office of deputy reeve is on the list. This is brought about because Stirling has over 1,000 electors, and this is entitled to a Stirling Public Utilities Commissioners Robert Hutton and Donald Rodgers both indicated they will retire from office. Hutton felt that his service of 10 to 12 years was sufficient and it

The Senior Citizens met again last Thursday with a good attendance. Gladys Elliott, Lenora Williams, Lydia McKee and Dorothy Ross served a nice lunch. Ann Faulkner and John Holmes took the high prize and Mina Smith and Everett Cook also won prizes.

Looks like Christmas is on its way soon. Arrangements are being made for our annual pre-Christmas dinner which we hope to have December 14th.

We are still growing in numbers. Last week we welcomed Bert Reddit and he informed us that he and his wife Melissa will be joining our Club.

What's nicer than white fluffy snow? It looks even nicer after it's shoveled from the walk. Now wouldn't the Senior Citizens of this village be delighted if our Council decided to do just that for us this winter? (Is anybody listening?) Walking on the street is dangerous and walking on the walks is at times almost impossible. Seems to dis ole Scribe that there is a by-law that deals with the cleaning of walks in winter.

GOOD SALESMANSHIP

The greatest salesman I ever heard of was the one who sold two milking machines to a farmer who had one cow, and then took the cow as downpayment.

SCOUT PAPER DRIVE -- A drive to collect waste paper will be held in Stirling on Saturday, November 18. People who will be out of town may have their paper picked up Friday night by telephoning 395-2585 or 395-2313. Residents who live outside of the village can have their paper collected by calling these numbers also.

HALLOWEEN FIRE -- It was a quiet Halloween night in Stirling, Tuesday, Oct. 31st, for Town Bylaw Officer and Belleville Provincial Police, except for a small bonfire at the four corners in the village. Youths from the area started a number of fires of straw and rubber tires on fire sometime around 10 p.m. Provincial Police were called to the centre of the village along with the village Fire Truck. The small blaze was soon extinguished.

FIGURE SKATING REGISTRATION -- The Stirling Girls Figure Skating Club will be holding registrations at the Stirling Arena, Monday afternoon, November 13 at 3 p.m.

Official plan is ...

Stirling's official plan is now official, according to word received Friday by Reeve Robert Anderson.

He advised the News-Argus that the Minister of Treasury, Economics and Intergovernmental Affairs, the Hon. Charles MacNaughton had signed the documents this week. The matter had been discussed briefly at council Wednesday, but as of then nothing had been received.

The Official Plan is a development formula for the village, in that it designates where classes of buildings such as residential, commercial or industrial are now located, and where expansion may take place. Also included are details of when this can be done, in relation to sewer and other facilities. For instance, the present village expansion is limited to serviced lots, until such time as the lagoon is enlarged to allow for more flow.

Next step in the planning business is to write the zoning bylaw which interprets the plan and says how implementation is to be actually carried out.

This process has been going on for two or three years, and has cost the town a considerable amount of money. Now it has been approved, council has some guidelines to follow, should applications be received. Until now, it was possible only to suggest what should be done, but there was no real official path to follow.

LOYALIST GOVERNORS BAN RIVER RACING

At the regular meeting of the Board of Governors of Loyalist College held on campus recently following items were discussed.

The Board endorsed the ban on future Moira River Runs as recommended by the Coroner's inquest held last July.

River Valley card party

On Friday evening, Nov. 3rd, River Valley Women's Institute sponsored the first of four card parties at the Centre. Mrs. Glenn Bush, convenor, and the members of the "Family and Consumer Affairs Group" provided the food and were in charge of the arrangements.

Sixteen guests were in attendance from Stirling, Sidney, Mout Pleasant and Wellman's. There were ten tables in play and the winners were: Ladies high - Mrs. Harry Jeffries, second - Doug Kane (playing a lady's card); Men's high - Steven Bush, second - Harry Jeffries.

Set Day Soon For Sod Turning

Officials of the Orange Order in Eastern Ontario plan to meet soon to discuss the official starting date for a 56-unit senior citizens' housing project in Batavia. Bernard Hollinger, Foxboro, president of the Ontario East Triangle County ... the development company incorporated for the project by all Eastern Ontario branches of the order ... said recently the meeting is expected to set a date for the sod-turning ceremony on the site.

The event would mark the start of construction of what the lodges plan as the first phase of the scheme -- four one-storey buildings each with four housing units, estimated to cost $250,000. This would be followed in the next few years with 10 more buildings and an administration centre.

Mr. Hollinger said it is hoped the first phase would be finished by mid-1974.

Some problems are still to be ironed out -- notably that of water service. The order's developer would prefer obtaining water from the nearby Bata Industries but there is concern about the cost of feeder pipes to the project.

Provincial government permission already has been received to link the first units to Batavia sewers.

Gerald Boyce, former vice-principal at Centennial, Murray

Irwin, vice-principal, and Raymond Rowe, member to the Hastings County Board of Education, presented Grade 12 students with their Secondary School Graduation Diplomas.

Twenty-seven Grade 12 students from Stirling and area were presented with diplomas. They included Ann Courtney, Virginia Pollock, Carol Stapley, Donald Wood, Joyce Carr, Terri Elvins, Thomas Kuglin, Karen Wilson, Katherine Johnson, Paul Jones, Stanley Meeks, Thomas Reynolds, Mary-Lou Sine, Margaret Vanderkooy, William Jackett, Joan Jeffs, John Mouck, Edmund Stapley, Linn Thain, Sandra LaChapelle, Jewel Bailey, Donald Campbell, and Carol Vandervoort.

Master of ceremonies' duties were shared by Paul Whattam of Stirling, Prime Minister of Student Parliament and Nancy Rose, Secretary.

The graduation exercises were student-centered with Centennial's prize winning band massed on stage, and with students in charge of most of the organization. Following the ceremonies, a dinner, prepared by the home economics students, was served in the cafeteria.

Eugene Pringle and Miss Sandra LaChapelle of Stirling shared the valedictorian honors at the graduation.

Mr. Pringle, Grade 13 valedictorian said, "the measure of worth for the school is how readily we adapt to the new environment we are now in.

It would be easy to stay and do the whole thing over again," he said. "Now we must look to the future. This is what must be. The school gave its students a lot of things but the students returned many things in their stay here," said Mr. Pringle.

In his closing statement, Mr. Pringle expressed his dismay at students working summer jobs which he termed "incompatible with their level of education."

It is not the fault of the school but it seems a shame to not use fully the very expensive investment in education."

Miss LaChapelle, valedictorian for Grade 12, looked in retrospect over her years at the school, recalling the good and bad and saying, "tonight is the completion of one phase of our lives."

We have passed from childhood to adulthood, from dependency to responsibility," she said. "People are no longer people to us but individuals, unique in their own way. We can see ourselves now making decisions, directing our lives and learning new things every minute," Miss LaChapelle concluded.

Remarks were also given by Mr. Williams, Mr. Musgrove, and W.R. MacKay, Principal of the school.

The Intelligencer Award for the Technical Department Award for the Top Student in Mechanical Technology was awarded to Fred Smith. The presentation was made by D. Rowe.

Brenda Hay was presented with the Language Department Achievement Award in Grade 11 Spanish by J. Kalleka.

Janet Spencer was awarded the Geography Award for work in Geography, fourth year, level four. The presentation was made by L. Davy.

The Mrs. Phyllis M. Camm English Achievement Award was presented to Mark Everard by K. Scruton.

The Mrs. K. Bailey Award was presented to Deborah Harding. The presentation was made by K. Daley. This is the first year for this memorial award from the school.

The Student Parliament Academic and Extra-curricular Award was presented to Linda Walker. This is the first year that this award has been presented.

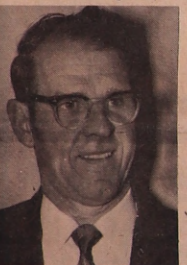

Ruth Lee was presented with the Waterloo Lutheran University Proficiency Scholarship. K. Daley made the presentation.

Judy Whattam received the Guidance Department Award for Academic Improvement during one school year. The presentation was made by Sidney Alcorn, Guidance Department Head.

Kathy Ketchen and Thom Reynolds received Library Awards. The awards were given in appreciation for Library Assistance. The presentation was made by Mrs. Philip Boyko.

Hastings County Board of Education Awards for Academic Achievement were presented at Saturday night's graduation exercises. The awards were presented by W.R. MacKay, Principal of the school and Donald Williams, Chairman of the Board.

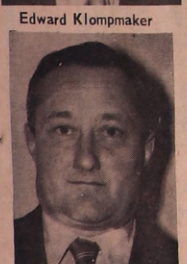

Lynn Hoover received the Education Award in Art, second year, level five, and Susan Elvins French, first year, level four. David Jeffs received the Education, first year while Andy Brown received the award in technical, second year, level four.

Merrie Bowlers

Nothing hogish about those Merrie Ones. For six weeks now that high single score has been passed along. This week Barb Noble swept the high score of 260. She also held high triple of 603 and at present is retaining the high average, now at 158. Other over 200 scores were Helena Costing 205; Dilly Moxam 212; Beacie Hewton 243; Tilly Preet 202; and Ruby Tompkins 216.

Beacie Hewton's Dingbats this week scored up 5 points, leaving Lorna Wrightman's Meatheads with 2. Even though Mildred Fraser's Dingalings and Isabel Hutcheon's Bells tied one game, they couldn't tie the score, so the Dingalings got 4, the Bells 3. Presently the standings in Dingbats with a good lead of 31, the Bells ringing a 22, the Dingalings and Meatheads neck and neck at 16 and 15 respectively.

Wingfield Bowling

Nancy summed it up for us this week when she said, "Debbie is the star of our bowling this week." Debbie had four strikes in her second game of 162. Nancy also did well though and bowled a game of 107. Marion bowled games of 125, 96. Janice 126, 87; Edward 96, 88; Kim 95, 68; little Elizabeth 50, 43; and Delphine 67, 62. Margaret and Floretta were with us for the first time and Margaret had 87, 64; and Floretta 110, 60.

Crests added to their collections were 75 for Margaret; 100 for Nancy and Floretta; 125 for Janice and 150 for Debbie. Guess what bowlers? We got the crests for last week on Friday just after you left. The mail was late. See you all next Friday morning at Stirling Bowl - O - Drome.

P.S. We had 28 Youth Bowling Council bowlers at Stirling Bowl. O-Drome who shelled out 25¢ for the "I beat my coach" tournament for seven dollars towards your crest program. We are sending it to head office in Toronto and 19 of our bowlers will be wearing "I Beat My Coach" crests. Congratulations bowlers!

BY THOM REYNOLDS

(By THOM REYNOLDS) Ice making operations are now completed at the local arena and many of the Minor Hockey teams have been holding practices this past week.

The Pee-Wees meet Campbellford, Wednesday night, in Campbellford for an exhibition match. The Bantams played their first league game in Wellington last night. They will meet Colborne Monday night at 7 p.m. for their home-ice opener.

Bantam players that didn't make the "A" team are asked to contact Bob Whittam, coach of the team, as to their interest in forming a Bantam "B" club. Instruction would be given for an hour each week for 13 or 14 boys of Bantam age on the All-star team. Boys playing with this B club would be required to help pay for this hour ice time.

Weekly Meditation

CONTRIBUTED BY STIRLING CLERGYMEN

(By CHARLES E. STAPLES)

Peace in the world; peace between people is the goal of every one. Yet it eludes us all. As Remembrance Day approaches, our minds go back in time to the wars fought by our Canadian soldiers, sailors and airmen, to preserve peace.

But what does peace mean? In World War I & 2 the struggle for peace meant an end to violent aggression for land; it meant an end to murdering people of another country or race; it meant an end to destruction of property; it meant an end to horrors and nightmares, privations and indignities. That's why our Canadians fought - to bring back to other people and to safeguard for ourselves the freedom to live openly with one another with a strong sense of mutual trust and honour.

When Remembrance Day is held again this year, perhaps we should also include in our remembrances the present day struggles for peace. Hatred between Jews and Arabs continue to bring deaths and horrible reprisals. Fear keeps Irish Catholics and Irish Protestants battling one another. Repressive governments in Africa and Asia perpetuate racism. And in South-East Asia, the promise of a cease-fire and the end of the Vietnam War is dangerously threatened by a basic mistrust between the government of U.S.A. and the government of North Vietnam.

What kind of Christian message is brought to this situation? In a passage of Scripture that is sometimes puzzling to the casual reader because of its startling message, Jesus declares he has come not to bring peace to the world but division. (Luke 12:51). He is to be the cause of division not because that is what God wants to happen but rather as Jesus explains it in a parable, people will not choose the right thing to do. He rebukes his contemporaries for "not knowing the meaning of this present time." Then he goes on to say, "why do you not judge for yourselves the right thing to do? If a man brings a lawsuit against you and takes you to court, do your best to settle the matter with him."

The struggle for peace must wait for the breaking out of hostilities and aggression, before we act. But we must start with the peaceable living with our neighbour right now. The mild dislike for someone else on your block, can easily lead to a destructive act carried by another member of the family, which in turn can grow into a hardened attitude of mistrust and fear.

Jesus is the agent of reconciliation. It is He that enables us to experience the reconciling love for others, which by ourselves we can't always express to others. To be able to receive this strength requires of us a willingness to follow Christ and a desire to be like Him.

The October Meeting of the Spring Brook W.I. was held at the home of Mrs. Myrtle Cassidy, with an attendance of eighteen members and four visitors.

Mrs. G. Williams opened the meeting with a poem which conveyed the message that "a bird in the hand is worth two in the bush" and also expressed the thought that one should make the most of what they have.

Mrs. Williams then led in the singing of "O Canada", the Institute Ode, and the Mary Stewart Collect. Mrs. Barlow read the minutes of the Sept. meeting and the correspondence. It was moved that a donation be made to the Mental Health Fund for Christmas gifts.

Pennies were collected for the Pennies for Friendship Fund. The roll call "How do you go about to make your home a healthy attractive place to live" was well responded to.

Mrs. Myrtle Cassidy gave a report on the first day of the Convention in Peterborough. She mentioned that the Mayor of Peterborough welcomed nearly three hundred W.I. ladies. We learned also that there are thirty thousand W.I. members in Ontario. It was mentioned too that we ought to learn something about the Metric system as it will be in use by 1975.

Mrs. Clayton Burdick gave a well prepared report of the second day of the convention.

Mrs. Gerald Burdick and Mrs. Jim Spry were the Convenors of this Family and Consumer Affairs meeting. Mrs. Jim Spry conducted the program. Mrs. Spry gave a short talk about consumers affairs and welfare.

REMEMBER?

For the past few days residents of Stirling, as well as every community across the country, have been wearing those little red flowers on their coats, sweaters, etc., as a symbol that they have "remembered." Many may say what is there to remember, 27 years after major hostilities ended in Europe and Japan for the second time this century, and 54 years after the first armistice was signed in 1918, and there was something to "remember."

To really remember what happened, and realize the agonies that were suffered, a person would have to be seventy-plus for the first World War, and somewhat over forty to recall the second. But if those who are going to school now, and those who have "remembered," they didn't know what it was to suffer the loss of homes, families, or male members through active duty and sacrifice, they didn't know the lesser problems we had in Canada like food rationing and other shortages of items we take for granted in our everyday living. They could easily know if they make an effort and their parents made an effort to teach them.

War and its related consequences are not pleasant things to contemplate in a time of peace and relative prosperity, but after witnessing what is happening in Viet Nam, we should be more than willing to try and prevent such recurrences on a limited or world basis. Such can be prevented primarily by the education of all as to what can happen if we let our guard fall, and ideologies prevail which ignore the basic human concepts that democracies advocate, and we accept as the better way of life.

Another reason we should take time to reflect, at least yearly, on such events, is that because thousands of young Canadians saw their duty and did it, we are able to enjoy our high standard of life today. There is much publicity about today's teenagers and their predilection with some habits that adults and others abhor, but basically, they would be the first to admit that our "establishment" society does give a very good standard, even though many of them feel strongly about its conduct by their parents and others. Pause and consider what life would be like were we governed or handled by a totalitarian regime like Adolf Hitler and his associates envisaged; or were we under the same regimentation that exists in communist lands; or even a few dictatorships which are frequently getting in trouble for various reasons.

For those who are old enough physically, and prepared enough mentally, here are a few things that came to mind at the time of November 11 and associated events:

- the sloping through the trenches of western Europe by men and horses;
- the first use of the deadly poisonous gas in 1917;
- the bloody battle for Ypres;
- the calmness of the great Atlantic as our men sailed home in 1919;
- the ominous days of the 1930's when war was coming but couldn't be seen where it counted;
- the duplicity of Hitler and the acceptance of his demands by Chamberlain and others;
- the steam roller through France by armies of a country supposedly ruined 20 years earlier;
- men swimming the waters of Hong Kong Bay in December 1940 to avoid the Japanese capture;
- the great events of December 7, 1941, when the U.S.A. was stabbed in the back at Pearl Harbour;
- the slaughter at Dieppe in 1942, where Canadians bore the brunt of the attack;
- the desert campaigns of Rommel and Alexander, followed by the incomparable Montgomery's Egyptian conquests;
- the island battles in the Pacific as the Imperial army was rolled back;
- the atomic bomb was born and dropped, opening a new era in history;
- the campaigns through Italy and western Europe, as the Russian forces come from the east;
- the joys of victory and the price of peace since;
- these are a few things to remember. Each will have his or her own special things to add to the list.

DEER AND MOOSE HIDES

The Ontario Ministry of Natural Resources in the Tweed District are again collecting deer and moose hides for the Indian Handicraft Industry.

The purpose of this programme is to utilize hides that are otherwise wasted. These hides will be collected by the Ministry of Natural Resources Offices throughout the District, and will then be taken to a tannery to be processed and then distributed to the Indian families in Northern Ontario.

We are also interested in collecting the lower jaw of as many deer as possible. These jaws will be used for valuable management information.

In return for the hide and lower jaw, we are giving a "hand cooker."

When donating the deer hides and jaws, please be sure your name, address, sex of deer, and location or township where the deer was killed.

The hides and jaws will be collected at all Natural Resources (Lands & Forests) offices and also at the following places:

Do You Remember?

25 Years Ago

On Sunday, Oct. 24th, the Bethel congregation of the United Church observed the 74th anniversary of the founding of their church. The services at 11 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. were conducted by the pastor, Rev. H.C. Vaclavik, who delivered two very inspiring sermons which were well received by those privileged to hear him.

The Sunday School pupils of St. John's Church, Stirling, held their Hallowe'en Masquerade party on Friday evening in the Parish Hall, which was suitably decorated for the occasion. The Superintendent, Mr. Fred Houchin, and the teachers, supervised the games, after which the ladies of the congregation served the children cocoa, pumpkin pie, apples and candy.

Prizes for the best costumes were awarded to Denny Armstrong, Carol Burgess, Ian Houchin, Barbara Woodcock, Mary Lou Faires, Ronnie Woodcock, John Anderson, Alice Vardy, Peter Cliffe-Phillips, Mrs. Cooke and Mrs. Smith.

Dr. and Mrs. A.E. Lewis of Ottawa were the weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. J.L. Good.

Mrs. W.C. West and Mrs. Louis Rodgers, delegates from Stirling Women's Institute and West Hastings District W.I., respectively, attended the Belleville Area W.I. convention in Belleville on Tuesday and Wednesday of this week.

Mrs. Harold Elliott, Bethel, Mrs. McKeown, Bonarlaw and Mrs. Arthur Pyper of Carmel attended a meeting and tea Tuesday afternoon for the W.A. executive of the Hastings and Prince Edward Counties at the home of the Presbytery President, Mrs. J.M. Wood, Queen St., Belleville.

Miss Ruth Morton of Rawdon has accepted a position on the staff of the local Branch of the Bank of Montreal and began her duties this week.

65 Years Ago

Special music will be contributed at the service in the Methodist Church next Sunday evening. In addition to the music by the Molly Parker and May Currie.

A noticeable improvement in St. Andrew's church is the introduction of eight new "Angie" lamps. The light is much more evenly distributed than formerly, and the lamps themselves are an ornament to the interior.

Hallowe'en passed off very quietly in this village, and also in other places, as noticed in our exchanges. This is well, as it is time that the foolish pranks of centuries past should give place to more sensible methods of spending what should be a pleasant social evening.

Wellman's Corners

(By Mrs. Lindsay Tanner)

Mr. and Mrs. James Johnston spent Sunday evening with Mrs. and Mrs. Leslie Finkle of Belleville.

Mrs. Mable Ray and David, and Miss Gwendolyn Ray spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Bill Morton of Oakville.

Saturday evening guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Harris were Mr. and Mrs. Garry Young and children of Belleville.

Larry Forestell and Doug Saries were prize winners on their calves at the Ottawa exhibition.

"You're new here, so watch out... the boss has a way of sneaking up on you."

Keeping it clean

with Bill Dodds

There are warnings printed on cigarette packages. In the U.S., they say smoking may be hazardous to your health. In Canada they say the danger increases with the amount smoked.

There's nothing like that stencilled on your garbage can or on plastic garbage bags.

But warning or not, the danger is there - to you and to the people who handle your garbage for you. If you like odd statistics, you might appreciate knowing that the amount of daily lifting done by the average garbage collector is equivalent to raising a full garbage can weighing 35 pounds to the top of the Empire State building.

Studies of occupational hazards among garbage collectors and workers in treatment and disposal operations show a high incidence of muscle and tendon disease, particularly affecting the back. Hernia is another risk of the job.

The hazards to garbage workers also appear to include skin diseases, and a high injury frequency rate, especially involving hand injuries.

But the threats garbage poses don't end there. The open dump is the most primitive and the simplest method of waste disposal. It's a breeding ground for rats, flies and other carriers of disease, and an attractive feeding ground in some areas for bears. An attractive feeding ground in some areas for bears.

To cut down its attractiveness to the carriers of disease, or just to cut down the bulk of the garbage, open burning has been practised at some dumps.

At others, there is the result of spontaneous combustion. And this can bring its own problems. Garbage is an incredible mixture of substances. Fumes from a burning dump can include sulphur, nitrogen and carbon compounds, aldehydes, organic acids and hydrocarbons to name a few.

Analysis of tissues from wild rats living in dumps was compared in one laboratory to tissue analysis from laboratory-raised rats. Generally the wild ones showed higher lead content and a high degree of nuclear inclusions and carcinomas in the kidneys. This was ascribed to continuous exposure to smoke from smoldering refuse in the dumps.

These are some of the reasons for phasing out open dumps as a method of waste disposal.

The major alternative at the moment is sanitary landfill, which involves careful selection of a site, compacting refuse and covering it with clean earth at regular intervals, usually daily. The Ministry of the Environment is studying refinements to improve this type of waste disposal. One method with a potential for wide application is grinding, reducing the waste to a common particle size which cuts volume and offers other advantages.

The Printed Word Bringing it all together

As far as the actual putting-together of the newspaper is concerned, the title "composing room" very aptly describes the process. The various employees in this department take the ads and editorial copy and compose them into the pages.

There are two main streams of activity. The editorial material, which is known as the body copy, or the stories, is sent to the typesetting machines, which operate basically like a typewriter, except in doing their work the operators have to work out spacing of words on lines and also decide where the hyphens will go. The material, once set, is sent to the proof reader for corrections, then goes to the page make-up section.

Headings for stories are treated similarly by another section, and once correct, also go to the make-up people.

The advertising is treated slightly different. First, the copy goes to what is termed the "mark-up" desk, where the various type sizes are determined for different ads. These in turn are set by one or two different machines, and in some cases, the type required is large enough to be set by hand, if the size is warranted.

Once he has set all the material the ad make-up man takes the various lines of type and puts them together within the frame of the ad, which has already been determined by the salesman. This is a specialized work, to a point, but basically the man must look for balance and space the type so the lines or words are not jumbled too much or put too close together for easy reading. The ads are also proof read, and sent to the make-up section.

Now that all the editorial material and advertising copy has been processed and handled so it is ready for the pages, the actual form of the pages can take place. First, the various ads are placed on the page layouts, which are blank sheets of paper slightly larger than actual printed image size. They are ruled in vertical columns, and have horizontal lines to assist with helping put the smaller ads, story headings and story type correctly in place. Once the ads are in place, next the stories and pictures, if any, are placed according to the layout done by the editorial department. There is a certain amount of latitude allowed here, as the space estimated by the editor may not be exactly right when the story is finally set in type. There are also occasions when ads are not entirely the same size as planned, although this is a rare occurrence.

With the pages compiled, page numbers entered and the overall layout checked for any errors, these pages, known in the trade as the "flats," are taken to the camera department. This is a part of the composing room, or in large operations, can be a separate entity of its own.

The pages are placed in a special glass frame, much like a picture frame, except the lid is hinged for easy access. The camera work is done in the same manner as an amateur taking pictures, except the camera may be worth several thousands of dollars when new, and the film used is sheets slightly larger than the size of the page. The film is developed like an ordinary roll, except in huge trays, then hung to dry, or put through a negative drier, if one is used. The negative now goes to the plate maker, which combines chemicals and a photoelectric process to "burn" the plate.

The negative is placed on an aluminum plate, which has been chemically treated. The light burns the white images of the negative on the plate, and this comes out black on the printed page. The plates are further treated chemically and taken to the press room, and what happens there will be explained in the next article.

It should also be mentioned that the photographs are processed separately from the pages, and the photo plates inserted on the negatives of the pages before the plates are made.

Up to this point, the process described has been the one used in the offset process, which is used by most papers in this area except The Intelligencer, Macdonald Review and Picton Gazette at the moment.

In the letterpress process those papers use, the steps are the same up to the point of making negatives of the pages, except the work is all done with lead type. The general work is the same, and the same channels are used before the pages are composed.

Once the pages are completed, they are put through a "mat roller," which makes an impression of the type in a specially treated asbestos sheet. The type is shown as a series of depressions. The mat is "cooked" to dry it out completely, then put into a plate maker which produces a lead cylinder, about half an inch thick and in circular form, with about a two-inch opening to fit it on the press. The pages weigh 40-50 lbs., compared with the offset plate which might weigh one or two pounds, depending on the size.

Also in this process, the photos are treated differently. Through either a photo-electric or chemical process, plates are made from the actual pictures, and these are fitted on the plate cylinders, just before they go on the press.

Everything considered, the composing room is a fascinating process to watch, regardless of which system is used. Each system, letterpress or offset has its own features, and generally, neither can be considered superior.

Born in the twenties Royal still farmers' focal point

Rudolph Valentino was at Shea's Hippodrome, Jackie Cooper was playing the Pantages, and Lionel Barrymore was at Loew's when the first Royal Agricultural Winter Fair opened in Toronto on November 22, 1922. (From a history of the Royal Agricultural Winter Fair entitled "The Royal" by William P. Watson, former RWF general manager, published 1968 by McLellan & Stewart). A half century later most of the people and places are memories. But the grand old dame of agriculture is still alive and well and planning many special attractions to celebrate her 50th year Nov. 10 to 18 in the Royal Coliseum.

Sore throat?

Chew Aspergum. Aspergum's medically recognized pain reliever effectively soothes the sorest throat. And it's so easy to take, children like it too. For soothing relief from a sore throat, chew Aspergum Cherry or Aspergum Orange. It helps.

with more silk hats, splendid gowns and jewels than the city dreamed it owned. Nowadays jeans, western boots and car coats mingle with hunting plinks, black and white ties and mink but the excitement and glamor remains.

Formal opening ceremonies complete with a colorful honor guard spotlight the Royal Horse Show on the tankard turf of the main arena.

Here the big attraction is international jumping with the world's top equestrian teams vying for honors.

This year an added feature of the Horse Show is the thrilling Royal Canadian Mounted Police Musical Ride. It's a stirring spectacle requiring the utmost timing, control and coordination of men and horses as they execute the precision movements of the ride, derived from cavalry drill.

But there's a lot more to the Royal than the Horse Show. Largest of its kind in the world, the Fair covers 27 1/2 acres and attracts 300,000 visitors from 25 countries each year. About 17,000 entries in 23 different divisions vie annually for $250,000 in prize money.

Its roots go back to the local fairs that were the friendly get-togethers of Canada's pioneers in the fall of the year. For urban dwellers, a visit to the fair is a day of country fun right in the middle of the city.

In the lives of many children from rural areas the Royal Winter Fair is the event of the year. For months they have been preparing ponies, calves and other prized animals for competition at the Fair.

For professional farmers and agriculturalists Canada's "Show Window of Agriculture" is a must. In the livestock buildings are some of the finest horses, cattle, sheep, swine and goats produced in North America. An annual highlight is the auction Sale of Stars where buyers from all over the world compete for champions in our livestock.

SPRING BROOK MAIN STREET 63 YEARS AGO

Spring Brook in 1909

EDITOR'S NOTE - This article was written by Mrs. Florence McKenna who is a patient in Hillside Nursing Home, Campbellford. Mrs. McKenna who is now in her 88th year, was born and raised in Spring Brook and spent all her life in the community. She is the mother of Mrs. Granville McKelvie, Marmora.

The McKenna's bought fifty acres of land which is now the Village of Spring Brook.

When this land was first purchased, the first house was built and took the name of Forest House.

To identify this house a sign was erected at the roadside and was displayed for many years. The Forest House was used by the shanty men and river drivers, for accommodation, food and rest for their horses going to and from work. From the 50 acres the McKenna's sold lots, and the second house was built by Thos. Rupert, father of Mrs. F. McKenna. His wife was the daughter of the McKenna's.

A few years later Mr. T. Rupert built a harness shop and worked in it many years.

From then on people began to build and settle in the immediate surrounding area. The Cheese factory was erected on the ninth line on the Clements property. About this time the "Forest House" was sold, and the McKenna's built across the road over a spring, and a brook running from this spring.

Maria McKenna who was the first woman to live there named the location "Spring Brook" and this name has been carried down through the years and the present Village still holds the same name.

The main road was back of the present school and came out where Joe Thompson's farm now stands, and follows on through to Stirling. On this road a toll gate was erected at Sine. The road was changed shortly thereafter and called the gravel road.

The C.P.R. and C.N.R. railways were built, also a church in 1882. The Village continued to grow with three general stores, a bake shop, a drug store, and Robert Stewart as druggist.

We also had two blacksmith shops, a wagon, and machine shop, a grain elevator, the harness shop, two halls and a saw mill owned by Mr. J. Morgan. A Doctor then took up residence here a Dr. Sargent who married Mr. Sam Bailey's daughter.

Quite some time previous to this, before there were many families, the building of a school was quite a problem, but in time, the school was built after much discussion.

Some thought it an unnecessary expense and wondered how they could pay a teacher, and pay her board; so it was decided to take turns in boarding the teacher.

The school was built, one large room, a table in the centre and benches all around. The first teachers were Luellen McKenna, then John Irwin, Ed Owens and Mr. Minchin.

In 1873 a brick school was built, one room with desks and seats. Lizzie McIntosh, Elias Wiggins, A. Armour, Miss Osterhouse, Minnie Myrie, Miranda Mosher, Agusta Mosher, Miss Harvey, Nell Bird, J.A. Donnell and Mr. Minchin.

The present school was built with two rooms in about 1890.

A courtesy dinner will be served to the W.I. quilters, by the non quilters in the community hall, Tuesday, Nov. 14, - their quilting day.

Mrs. Clarence Fitchett has donated a number of tea towels to the W.I. which are appreciated very much.

Mrs. Arnold Wannamaker collected the general and Pennies for Friendship money.

Before the program began, Mrs. McInroy passed around chocolate bars.

To open the program a lively sing-song was held, led by Mrs. McInroy.

Mrs. Edna Good gave a reading, "Noise, Is it worse than pollution?"

Mrs. Everett Cooke, delegate to Trent Valley Convention at Peterborough, on Oct. 24 and 25, gave a splendid report, and was given a thank you by Mrs. Louis Rodgers.

Mrs. D. Chapman gave a reading entitled, "A Glimpse of Autumn Color from a Hospital Bed," and another reading, "Somebody's Mother."

Mrs. Aythart gave a reading, "Queen Buckel."

Mrs. M. Ward put on a contest. All sang the Queen and the table was set. To add to our roll call, the lunch committee furnished serviettes with the words engraved, "The Cream Producing of Ontario remind you it's always better with butter." Grace was sung and the lunch committee Mrs. Clancy, Mrs. Wannamaker, and Mrs. L. McKenna served a delicious lunch, after which Mrs. L. Rodgers moved a vote of thanks.

"AT THE GOING DOWN OF THE SUN, AND IN THE MORNING, WE WILL REMEMBER THEM"

A PERSONAL BELIEF

We believe Remembrance Day is an occasion when all Canadians should "Remember" - each in their own personal way. Freedom to hold such beliefs is enjoyed by all Canadians. It is but one of the many freedoms bought at the cost of thousands of lives and endless suffering in the World Wars.

In our own sincere belief, we have decided to CLOSE OUR STORE ON SATURDAY NOVEMBER 11th - REMEMBRANCE DAY - and to "remember" in our own personal way. We trust our friends and customers will understand the feelings we hold in this regard.

Sincerely,
Doug Patterson.

Rebekahs hold meeting

A goodly number of members attended Laurel Rebekah Lodge #211, in the L.O.O.F. Temple on Tuesday, October 24, when the new officers presided for the first time. The Noble Grand, Sister Marjorie Stapley, extended a warm welcome to all. The Vice Grand, Sister Betty Johnson, reported several Sisters ill - they will be looked after in the regular way.

The 52nd Birthday Party of the Lodge will be held on the next meeting night (November 14th) at 6:30 p.m. All members (if at all possible) are asked to wear their long dress. The U.C.W. of Mount Pleasant will cater. Sister Madeline Walker, Jr. P.N.G., thanked all members at the time for their support last term. At this time two nurses (Sisters Marion Carter, P.N.G. and Alice Hoard) entered the Lodge Hall and the Noble Grand, Sister Marjorie Stapley, escorted to the centre of the floor. The nurses bottles and explained that as Sister Marjorie was a frail and delicate person, they thought that she should have some needed support for the coming term, so as they read a humorous poem, "Take Another Little Pill", a verse was handed to Sister Marjorie. This was thoroughly enjoyed by all.

Sis. Marjorie, NG, expressed her thanks to all the members who were so kind to take part in the Rebekah assembly. President's visit to this District. We are pleased to have Sister Olive Whitehead home again. The meeting closed in the regular order.

Mt. Pleasant marks 101st anniversary

On Sunday morning, Nov. 5th, Mount Pleasant Union United Church observed their 101st church anniversary, since the erection in 1871. It was an ideal sunny day and the church was filled to capacity with friends in attendance from many points which included Stirling, West Huntingdon, Burnbrae, Wellman's, Belk, Carmel, Hoard's and Spring Brook.

Memorial flowers were placed in the church in memory of Emerson Glenn and Mrs. Ross Hoard.

Special music for prelude, postlude and offertory was rendered by Harvey Couch - harmonica; Kenneth Couch - accordion; Douglas Couch - saxophone; and the church organist Mrs. MacShane.

The junior choir, with Miss Jeannette Hoard as piano accompanist, rendered two selections, "From the Slave Pens of the Delta" and "Let there be Peace on Earth." The choir directors were Miss Brenda Williams and Mrs. Claire Knight.

Rev. John Morrison of Cannit, Ontario conducted the service and based his message on the theme, "Called to be Saints," Corinthians, verse 13 and a few verses in First Peter. The hymns were "Love divine fills the Wesley," and "Stand up and Bless the Lord."

During the service 10 new hymnaries were dedicated and used by the children's choir. These were given by John Holmes and his sister, Miss Annie Holmes, in memory of Mrs. John Holmes and her three sons, Clifford, Douglas and Kenneth, in memory of Gordon Linn. This was given by the neighbors.

The offering was gathered by Terry Bailey and Donald Hubble. The closing thought was, "O may thy soldiers, faithful, true may fight as the saints who nobly fought of old. And win with them the victor's crown of gold."

Richard Whattam, a grade 10 student of Centennial Secondary School, layed a wreath on behalf of the students of the village attending the Remembrance Day service

Day services last Saturday morning.

CENTENNIAL SCHOOL STUDENTS REMEMBERED TOO

Service well-attended

A good turnout of Stirling area residents congregated at the Village Cenotaph Saturday morning to participate in the annual Remembrance Day ceremonies sponsored by Branch 228, Royal Canadian Legion.

The parade formed at the Community Hall and marched through the village to James Street, down Mill Street and into the cenotaph grounds. Joining the Legion members on parade were Stirling Girl Guides and Boy Scouts. The parade was led by a piper from CFB Trenton.

At the service, Rev. Roy A. Taylor, co-pastor of the Church of Stirling, conducted the service, as the congregation sang "O Canada" and the hymn "O'Valiant Hearts," accompanied by accordionist John DeVries. Paul Jones played the Last Post and Reveille before and after the two minutes silence.

Co-pastor Rev. J.F. McGarvey delivered the memorial address, in which he told the audience that the cause of war was not on the battlefield, but in the hearts of men. Battles could not be fought without politicians making the decision to fight in the first place, and such decisions were made by men who really knew little about the hell of war, he said.

During the laying of the numerous wreaths (see list at end of story) the piper played "Amazing Grace."

The names of those who were killed in the First World War were read by Robert A. Patterson: D.L. Anderson, Roy Bean, Roy Bissette, Arthur Conley, Alexander Conley, Fred Daley, George Gilroy, Ernest Gould, Norman Payne, and Donald Rutherford and Vincent Whitty.

Branch president Douglas Patterson read the list of Second World War men: Colville Ashley, Stanley Dainard, Ivan H. Martin, Aubrey Rodgers, Donald Stapley, Ralph Stapley, Alvin Stoneberg, Jack Wood, Irvine Woodcock and Maurice Woodcock.

After the commemoration, closing prayer and benediction, the group sang "God Save the Queen," and the parade moved around the cenotaph in single file, dropping the poppies on the foot of the monument. The group reformed on Mill Street, paraded east to the James Street corner, and returned west on Mill and Front Streets to the Community Hall for dismissal.

Following the service in town, Legion representatives went to the cenotaph at Harold and officials of Rawdon Township laid wreaths there.

Saturday night the annual Remembrance Day Banquet was held at the Legion Hall, with Holy Whitley of Trenton as guest speaker.

Village Council all acclaimed for 1973-4

Stirling has a new village council this year without any election. At the close of nominations Monday night, Robert Anderson was acclaimed for his second two year term as Reeve, and Edward Klompaker, former councillor, took the deputy reeve's chair without any opposition.

The council will have one old face as Maurice Faulkner, who filled an unexpired term through resignation, has run again, and will be joined by Joseph Valchar and Wayne Martin.

The Public Utilities Commission will have a new and an old face. Donald Rodgers, commissioner for the past two years, and former reeve, along with businessman Eugene Burrell will form the commission this year.

All the officials elected to office will sit for two years.

Donald Williams, chairman of the Hastings County Board of Education and Raymond Rowe of Frankford, were both acclaimed to represent Ward 6 on the Board for another term. They have been the representatives since the County Board system was formed in 1969.

All elected officials in Rawdon Township were put back by acclamation but there was a slight change in the personnel.

A very pretty fall wedding was solemnized at Mount Pleasant United Church recently when Joyce Helen Jeffs, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Jeffs, R.R. #3, Stirling, became the bride of John Robert Cosbey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Cosbey, R.R. #4, Marmora, Rev. W.C. Cox officiated at the ceremony.

Miss Linda Potts was organist and accompanied Miss Judy McAdam, the bride given in marriage by her father, wore a floor length gown of polyester satin with high neckline, empire waist, and detachable train. The skirt, neckline and sleeves were accented with guipure lace. A wedding ring head-piece held her four tier, waist-length veil. She carried a cascade bouquet of pink sweetheart roses and trailing ivy.

Mrs. Richard Herrington was matron of honor for her sister, Mrs. Chose a floor length gown of pink polyester crepe in hyacinth featuring a high waist and long bell sleeves enhanced by polyester insertion lace interwoven with deep lavender satin ribbon. She carried a bouquet of mixed flowers.

The bridegroom's mother assisted wearing a floor length, aqua crimplene gown with lace effect top, plain skirt and bow

Senior Citizens hold meeting

Fifty Senior Citizens whooped it up at their meeting last Thursday. We welcomed Mrs. Roswell Reid as a visitor and sang the birthday song to Florence Hough who was a year older but by gum she doesn't look it. Disle Scribe took some usual ribbing gracefully from one of his partners and also from some gals on his opposition who was playing as a man. Believe me they're both good at ribbing but never the less they are both good kids, so we won't mention names.

The prize winners for the day were Fanny Kane and Hub Faulkner high, and Flossie Geen and Will Fitchett also got prizes. A tasty lunch of assorted donuts and cheese was served by Freda Broadworth, Lil Heasman and Madge David.

Past President George did the spadework and if you don't know what spadework is, just ask George.

TODAY'S THOUGHT
The reason so few reach the top is because no successful method has as yet been devised by which a person may sit down and slide up hill.

Agriculture must grow to survive

Forty-five percent of Ontario's labor force depends on agriculture and food industries. "This makes farmers important - too important to our economy to be belittled as happy hayseeds," says Gordon Hill, Ontario Federation of Agriculture President.

Canada's farm machinery industry employs 15,000 workers, and the feed industry, 9,000. Last year, Canadian farmers spent more than three billion dollars.

"That's a few wheelbarrows of greenbacks. Without them, men would be jobless and kitchen cupboards bare," Hill claims in the October 24 issue of FARM AND COUNTRY.

Last year agriculture and its brother industries accounted for 29 percent of Canada's Gross National Product. Hill also points to exports. In 1970, more than 16 percent of Canada's exports were farm products. Food was eight percent of Canada's imports.

"It takes an efficiency and intelligence to bring two dollars into the country for every dollar spent on the world's supermarket," concludes Hill.

He said farmers have had to sacrifice their own incomes for this efficiency.

"But soon the sacrificing will end. If most of our agricultural community will embrace. This Canada cannot afford. If agriculture does not maintain its healthy, quick pace of growth - not only farmers, but all Canadians will suffer."

A FORUM ABOUT MATURE WOMEN

Career pressures split family Miami (MW) - One basic premise of marriage is that husband and wife generally be in the same place at the same time. But when the wife has a profession of her own, togetherness isn't always easy. Outside circumstances sometimes force her to work elsewhere.

This has been the case with Dr. Ruth Weiner, chairman of the department of chemistry at Florida International University. Dr. Weiner works in Miami. Her husband (who's also a scientist) works in Colorado. Their four daughters - ranging in age from 8 to 14 - are divided between them.

"Our family can only get together during school vacations and in the summer now," Dr. Weiner says.

Ruth Weiner recalls that since early childhood she had been groomed for a scientific career by a rican father. After achieving top academic grades at a Baltimore high school, she attended the University of Illinois, where she majored in engineering physics. At 18, she married a fellow student, then both went on to earn their masters' degrees in chemistry. The year they received those degrees, their first child was born.

Offered a Fellowship ing on to get an advanced degree in chemistry, I planned to be a high school teacher, I guess I was setting low goals for myself then," Ruth Weiner says. Her husband's advisor, however, offered her a fellowship so she too could work for a Ph.D. Being the second female student offered this opportunity, she decided to take it.

Weekly Meditation

CONTRIBUTED BY STIRLING CLERGYMEN

(By DOUGLAS TYLER)

Two portraits by the German artist Sternberg - his "Dancing Gypsy Girl" and the "Crucifixion" - are linked to one another by an unusual set of circumstances. The pretty maiden who served as the model for the first portrait took an unusual interest in the unfinished painting of our Lord's final suffering. One day she commented, "He must have been a very wicked man to have been nailed to a cross like that." "No," Sternberg replied, "He was a very good man the best that ever lived. Indeed, He died for you all." "Did He die for you?" asked the puzzled girl. This question made a profound impression upon the artist. He did not know the Lord as his personal saviour, and he didn't understand that salvation is received by faith in the Lord Jesus Christ.

Some time later however he became a Christian. Now with his technical skills coupled with a heart of love and gratitude, he completed his painting of the crucifixion and under it he wrote the words, "What hast thou done for me?" It was placed in a famous art gallery where a young man named Zinzendorf saw it and was deeply touched by the words written under it.

Now Zinzendorf was a Christian but was convicted of his failure to serve the Lord. He later became the organizer of a great missionary work.

If you will read St. John 19: 16-22 you will be brought face to face with the voluntary death of Jesus Christ. May I urge you kindly and earnestly to read the gypsy girl's question, "Did He die for you?" If He did, "What are you doing for Him?"

We often sing the hymn, "I gave my life for thee, My precious blood I shed That thou might'st ransom me, and quicken from the dead, I gave, I gave my life for thee, What hast thou given for me?"

Proverbs 23:26. My son, give thine heart, and let thine eyes observe my ways.

Good Tidings WMC meets

On Thursday, Nov. 9 ladies of Good Tidings met at the home of Mrs. Melville Grills.

President Miss Marjorie Forbes welcomed the ladies and thanked Mrs. Grills for opening her home for this occasion. We read together the 112 Psalm. Miss Forbes prayed God's Blessing on our meeting and each one present, and for the absent members.

Mrs. Lee Smith led in singing of choruses.

Miss Forbes read the Bulletin from Miss Janet Roger of the District office giving information on missionaries abroad and of their needs.

It was decided a Christmas box would be compiled for the Lennoxville Student House in Lennoxville, Quebec, where Dennis Donnan is a student. Minutes of last meeting read by Mrs. Ray Donnan.

Mrs. Clifford Elliott brought the devotional part of the meeting speaking on Remembrance Day, and how important it is we remember what Christ did for every one at Calvary.

Offering was lifted. A time of prayer followed with Mrs. Melville Donnan leading. Miss Cheri Lee Elliott closed the meeting.

GARBAGE FOR HEAT

Last week, I said that putting garbage incineration to work for providing heat was largely impractical except in a limited number of specific circumstances.

The city of Nashville, Tennessee, has decided that its downtown core can be served by incineration and it has started to build a $17 million plant.

This plant is designed to burn solid waste at a high temperature, generating steam for both heating and cooling. For cooling, the steam drives turbines that operate water chillers.

Like the steam, the chilled water for air conditioning will be piped to 27 downtown buildings.

This sort of system can only work in areas where heat and air conditioning for a number of buildings is provided from a single source.

Nashville feels it can offer the service to these buildings at a price 25 per cent below what they would pay for individual heating and cooling.

The city plans to start burning 72,000 tons of trash daily in 1974, expanding to 1,300 tons a day. Municipal estimates are that the energy from trash-burning will be equivalent to that from 140,000 tons of coal or 20 million gallons of oil.

Of course the plant is designed to burn the waste as efficiently as possible to extract the last quantum of energy and emission controls will protect the city from air pollution.

Nashville expects a clean ash residue that can be used as fill simply and hopes to find a market for metal reclaimed from the ash.

City officials claim enthusiastically that they can save more than $1 million a year through more efficient garbage collection.

They estimate that unloading all the trucks at the central plant will save man-hours and some 90,000 miles of driving.

BETTER TO BURN

As an alternative to sanitary landfill, a number of municipalities have looked to incinerators as the answer to their garbage disposal problems.

Incineration can be an effective way to dispose of garbage, but it has to be controlled to prevent air pollution. This means the installation of, for example, electrostatic precipitators to remove fine particles from the stack emissions, scrubbers to remove sulphur dioxide and other chemical systems to remove other gases.

All this adds to the cost, and all these things kept out of the air become solids, adding to the ash residue that still has to be buried in a landfill.

One potential way of reducing the cost of controlled incineration is to use the ground or to produce steam for heating or power. But at the moment, this is an alternative involving substantial problems.

It is not likely that such approaches will be practical in North America except in specific limited circumstances. It may be possible to couple incineration to heating facilities for a large, compact, high-density development, especially if refuse handling within the development can be simplified.

In Hamilton, an incinerator has been designed to take ground garbage for more efficient combustion. The ground material has less storage bulk and is easier to handle. The design of the equipment is based on the assumption that most of the ground material will burn in the air in the grate. This should result in better combustion and a more stable ash.

In contrast, the pit incinerator is a relatively unsophisticated unit.

This is basically a concrete pit in which waste is burned with a certain degree of control over the emission of burning debris and fine particles through air blowers which set up a rotating current of air in the pit.

The unit is screened with wire mesh and newer units have more automated gates.

But these installations are not suitable or acceptable except in limited applications in areas remote from development.

Incinerators, while they cut down the bulk of a city's garbage do not eliminate the need for landfill. Every municipal installation has a solid residue load that must still be disposed of.

It is impossible to make a general statement on which is best - incinerators or land fill, the two most popular solutions to waste disposal. The choice of method depends too much on individual circumstances - land costs, pollution levels and loads among other factors.

Both methods have enough drawbacks to keep experiments going all over North America in composting, separate collection for recycling, mechanical separation of the components of garbage for re-use and other reclamation schemes.

WE REQUIRE ALL YOUR DEER AND MOOSE HIDES

The Ontario Ministry of Natural Resources in the Tweed District are again collecting deer and moose hides for the Indian Handicraft Industry.

The purpose of this programme is to utilize hides that are otherwise wasted. These hides will be collected by the Ministry of Natural Resources Offices throughout the District, and will then be taken to a tannery to be processed and then distributed to the Indian families in Northern Ontario.

We are also interested in collecting the lower jaw of as many deer as possible. These jaws will be used for valuable management information.

In return for the hide and lower jaw, we are giving a "hand cooker."

When donating the deer hides and jaws, please be sure your name, address, sex of deer, and location or township where the deer was killed.

The hides and jaws will be collected at all Natural Resources (Lands & Forests) offices and also at the following places:

Burning Rectal Itch Relieved In Minutes

Exclusive Healing Substance Relieves Pain As It Shrinks Hemorrhoids.

If you want satisfactory relief from "itching piles" - here's good news. A renowned research laboratory has found a unique healing substance which quickly helps heal hemorrhoids. This substance has been shown to produce a most effective rate of healing. Its germ-killing properties also help prevent infection.

In case after case, "very striking improvement" was noted, even when cases were long standing. And this improvement was maintained over a period of months!

This was accomplished by a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne) which quickly helps heal hemorrhoids. This substance has been shown to produce a most effective rate of healing. Its germ-killing properties also help prevent infection.

The Printed Word It's finally printed

As far as the layman is concerned, the press room is where all the action is. Here the work is done at relatively high speed, compared to the other parts of the work, and seeing the papers coming off printed at a rapid rate seems to an intriguing thing to watch, to those unaware of how the process works.

Basically, offset and letterpress presses provide the same function, the only difference being one of mechanics.

In letterpress, the plate mentioned in the last article, (circular, with an opening to insert it on the press) is located where it should be according to page number. Once locked in, the plates revolve, connect with the ink roller, then the impression is put directly onto the paper web as it feeds through the press.

In offset, the light aluminum plate is inked also, but then the impression is transferred to a blanket covering another roller, and this in turn transfers the image to the paper.

At the ends of both the presses, the same functions are performed.

At the back end the rolls of paper are inserted into locked position, and rotate as required until the supply is exhausted. At the opposite end is the folder, into which the paper webs feed, and are automatically cut according to the size of paper being printed, and also folded to required size, if needed.

The principal problem facing pressmen is to get the several paper webs lined up so that the pages come out even in the paper; also to see that colors line up if there happens to be color used. During the press runs, constant checks are made to see that the inking is maintained as uniformly as possible, without being too heavy.

The press room is also where any previous time lapses are attempted to be made up, so the paper can be delivered on time, or if late, the lateness as minimal as possible. This takes accurate work, and when things are late, this is just when problems will occur in the press room as well. This would be a good time to point out that especially in larger weekly or any daily operations, the lateness of an advertisement or story can affect the whole system. This is why the publisher must weigh whether the value of the ad is worth any delay it might cause; and also if a real news story breaks late, will publishing it offset in news value any headaches that will be created in publishing time or delivery.

Such things do not upset the routine in weekly newspapers where the paper is printed on location. Where it is not, it could cause problems, depending on each individual situation.

From the first hand press to today's units which produce thousands of copies per minute, plus extremely fine color work as well, has been a long process of development. Like every other industrial field refinements are being developed every year. Just what the printing trade will be like in another few years is hard to predict. One thing seems sure. It will still be as fascinating as ever.

Ivanhoe Women's Institute

Our regular meeting of the Institute was held in the Township Hall in the form of a "Pot Luck" supper with a good attendance. Our president, Mrs. Dan Cooke, opened the meeting in the usual way with the Institute Ode and Mary Stewart Collett accompanied by Mrs. Gordon Donnan at the piano. The roll call was answered by each member introducing the guest she brought with her. Minutes and correspondence were read and adopted.

During the business it was moved by Mary Sills and seconded by Tillie Cooke that all bills be paid.

Mary Sills was the delegate chosen to go to the Area Convention held in Peterborough, and she brought home a wonderful report from that convention. The rest of the meeting was turned over to the Public Relations Convener, Mrs. George Wood.

The motto was given by Mrs. John Wallace entitled, "Kindness is the oil that keeps the hinges of friendship from rusting," followed by each one singing "Try a little kindness." Laura Wood put on a demonstration of several things she had made herself from Javex bottles, egg cartons, old zippers, etc., and then conducted a contest to see how many of the things we remembered that she used.

Collection was taken and the president closed the evening with "O Canada," and everyone journeyed home after enjoying a pleasant evening.

Couple wed 25 years ago

Mr. and Mrs. David Fargey, West Huntingdon were pleasantly surprised on Saturday, November 4, 1972, when 40 friends and relatives gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Galloway, 68 Nicholas St., Trenton to honour the couple on the occasion of their 25th Wedding Anniversary. The home was decorated with white and silver streamers, bouquets of pink carnations, and tall pink candles in silver candelabra.

Guests were received by their children Nancy and James and were invited to sign their name in the guest book which was attended by Linda Galloway. Mrs. Fargey was presented with a corsage of pink roses with silver ribbon while Mr. Fargey was presented with a white boutonniere.

The highlight of the evening was the presentation of a mock wedding in which Stanley Galloway portrayed the minister, while Jay Easton took the role of the lovely bride and Grace Easton as the dashing young groom. Brian Milligan was fitting as maid of honour and Susan Galloway as best man. The tearful mother of the bride was Grant Galloway while Debbie Galloway carried on the role as father of the bride. After an evening of dancing and reminiscing the guests were served a buffet lunch.

Florence Helen Galloway, daughter of Mrs. Gladys Galloway and the late James Galloway was united in marriage with David Allan Fargey, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Sam Fargey, on November 8, 1947, at Spring Brook United Church, Mrs. Grace McMullen (now deceased) was the matron of honour while Mrs. Doris Galloway Colbert was the bridesmaid, and Mrs. William Bailey (the former Carol Ray) was the flower girl.

The groom was attended by Orville Ray, Tweed, as best man, and the ushers were Stanley Galloway and Laird English (now deceased).

Mr. and Mrs. Fargey were the recipients of many gifts, flowers and cards for which they expressed their thanks to the friends and relatives for their thoughtfulness in remembering them on the occasion of their silver wedding anniversary.

Harold C. Martin honored for 47 years' service

"Thank you Harold Martin for 47 years service," was the inscription on the cake presented to Mr. Martin at the regular meeting of Belleville Presbytery held in Newburgh last week.

Rev. William McDowell of Trenton as chairman of Presbytery praised Mr. Martin's character, loyalty and good works as Presbytery Treasurer and as a man.

Presentation of a plaque and the cake was made by Rev. William Hendry of Deseronto. He spoke of Mr. Martin's dedication to his work which put Belleville Presbytery in a financial position second to none.

The letter of resignation was read by Rev. R.E. Vessey of Belleville. Mr. Martin confirmed his resignation for health reasons, and thanked everyone for their cooperation and kindness to him over the years. He also assured Presbytery that his choice for Treasurer, Mr. E.L. Burnham of Belleville was a sound one.

Born in Stirling in February, 1890, Harold attended public and high school here. He worked with his father, Walter S. Martin in the family insurance business established in 1880, making it now the oldest insurance agency in Hastings County. Harold was a member of the Methodist church prior to the Union that formed the United Church of Canada in 1925, and in that year became Treasurer of Presbytery and Chairman of the Board of Finance at the Conference level. He attended the first General Council of the new Church in Montreal, serving for 10 years on its Board of Missions, and a further 10 years on the Board of Finance. Mr. Martin still resides in Stirling.

Township Elections Feature 5 Races

Elections are on in the townships of Sidney, Huntingdon, and also the city of Belleville and Town of Trenton. The Village of Stirling and Township of Rawdon had all elected officials returned by acclamation.

The only position settled in Sidney is the Reeve, where Gordon Wilman has taken over from Jack Bush, who is stepping down after a lengthy municipal career in the township. Glenn Meyers and Arthur Carleton are contesting the deputy reeve. Meyers has been on council for four years. Carleton is a former councillor.

The big race in Sidney is for council with seven candidates for three seats. Incumbents Hedy Richardson and Reg McCurdy are being challenged by Ernest Kells, Graham Grandy. Paul Aziz, Thomas Nobles and Michael Bathurst.

Reeve Russell Sils and present Deputy Reeve George Wood are contesting the top spot in Huntingdon Township while councillor Harold Thompson and newcomer Mrs. Hazel Mitchell are after the Deputy Reeve's position.

Five names are on the ballot for council's three seats, and are newcomers to township politics. Alex Watson, Glenn Fenn, Ted Fleming, Ted Pollock and Arthur Miller are in the race.

Polling day for all municipal elections is Monday, December 4th, with the polls open from 10 a.m. until 8 p.m. Advance polls are being held Saturday, November 27th and December 2nd, during the same hours.

Rotary Marks 55th Birthday

The Rotary Club of Stirling featured a panel discussion at the club's weekly meeting last Tuesday in commemoration of Rotary Foundation Week, November 12-18.

In honoring the Rotary Foundation during its 55th year of service, the Stirling club joined with more than 15,000 other Rotary clubs in 140 countries.

"The Rotary Foundation was created by Rotary International to provide educational and vocational study programs for qualified young people in countries other than their own," said David Gildon, president of the Stirling club. "Award recipients are expected to strive for academic excellence while serving as ambassadors of good will through people-to-people contacts in the host country."

Supported by contributions from individual Rotarians and Rotary clubs, the Foundation has enabled more than 5,400 young men and women to pursue studies in a different cultural environment at a cost of more than $14 million since the first fellowships were awarded in 1947. This year, the Foundation will award more than $2 million to approximately 700 young people.

In addition to Graduate Fellowships and Undergraduate Scholarships, special programs are available to young craftsmen through Technical Training awards, there also are awards for teachers of the physically and mentally handicapped and for young business and professional men through Group Study Exchange.

Rotary International is a world fellowship of 715,000 business and professional men who accept the ideals of friendship, fellowship, and service in their personal and community lives.

Shower held

Mrs. Ivan Saries and Ruth entertained approximately thirty neighbors and friends Monday night in honor of Mrs. Betty Sine, a bride-to-be. Contests and games were enjoyed after which Betty was seated in a prettily decorated chair and was presented with many miscellaneous gifts. As Betty unwrapped her gifts a bow hat was made. The bride-to-be thanked everyone for the lovely and useful gifts and also expressed appreciation to Ruth and her mother for the lovely evening and honor.

The hostesses served a delicious lunch assisted by Mrs. Murney Johnston and Mrs. James Johnston.

Senior Citizens hold meeting

Over 50 Senior Citizens met last Thursday and spent a happy time together. We were happy to have Arthur Keegan call in to visit us and stay for lunch. The game winners were John Kane and Bessie Rodgers while Ivay Ayrhart and Florence Hough took the tail-end prizes.

President John Kane thanked Ross Hoard for the nice lunch of sandwiches and cheese that he provided for us.

Girls, loosen up your girdles for it looks like our pre-Christmas feed is arranged for Dec. 14th.

MAN
Man is but a worm of the dust... he comes along, wiggles about a while, and finally some chicken gets him.

The question is not whether man descended from monkey, but when he is going to quit descending.

Man never knows precisely what is right; So torn between a purpose and a doubt.

He first makes windows to let in the light And then hangs curtains up to shut it out.

Car accident stops game

A hockey game was called off in Stirling last Friday night due to the involvement of players and coach of one team in an accident near Ivanhoe about 5:30 p.m. Seven persons were taken to Belleville General Hospital early Friday evening for treatment of injuries suffered in a two-car collision at Highway 62 and the 8th concession of Huntingdon township.

Taken to hospital were Joyce Norma Varley, St. Lawrence St. Madoc driver and lone occupant of one vehicle and five other occupants of the second car driven by John Charles Matheson, 25, of Tweed.

With Mr. Matheson were his wife Linda, their 18-month-old daughter Tammy, Patrick Langevin, 34, R.R. 1, Tweed, his son James, 10, and David Rashotte, 9. The Varley woman and David Rashotte were detained in the hospital while the others were treated and released.

Provincial Police Constable Robert Whitehorn said Mr. Matheson was on his way to Stirling for a novice hockey game when the accident occurred, about one mile north of Ivanhoe.

The Varley car was damaged to the extent of $1,500 while the Matheson vehicle had $2000 damage.

PERSONAL

Guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Cooke on Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. Willard Smithson of Ottawa, Mrs. Harry Baker of Montreal, Quebec, Miss Cecily Corbin of Barbados, West Indies, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Lloyd and son Allen and Andrew of Belleville.

Mrs. John McKeown

One of Rawdon Township's most beloved residents, Mrs. Florence Elizabeth McKeown died in Campbellford Memorial Hospital on Monday, November 6th. She was in her 88th year.

The funeral was held at the Howden Funeral Home, Marmora on Wednesday, November 8th at 2 p.m. with Rev. H.F. Beare of Spring Brook officiating. Interment took place in Mont Nebo Cemetery, Spring Brook.

Born and educated in Rawdon Township, she was the daughter of the late Thomas Rupert and the late former Josephine McKenna.

She was predeceased by her husband, John McKeown and William Arthur Bateman.

During her life Mrs. McKeown was intensely interested in art and music and served as organist of Spring Brook United Church for 30 years. In her memory, several donations have been made to Spring Brook Memorial Organ Fund.

She was also keenly interested in history and had a remarkable memory of past events. An article which she wrote on Spring Brook and Rawdon Township was included in the book "Historic Hastings" by Gerald Boyce, issued as a Hastings County Council Centennial project. Mrs. McKeown was presented with a complimentary copy of the book for her contribution.

Another article which she wrote in the past five years on the history of Spring Brook was recently published in the Marmora Herald and Stirling News-Argus. Mrs. McKeown was an active member in the Stirling Rebekah Lodge until falling health prevented her attendance. She was also a Past President of the Presbyterian Women's Association and a lifelong member of the U.C.W., a member of Spring Brook Women's Institute and Marmora Senior Citizens' Association.

In failing health for the past five years, Mrs. McKeown resided at the Hillcrest Nursing Home in Campbellford when not with her daughter, Helen, Mrs. Grenville McKeljohn, of Marmora.

In addition to her daughter, Mrs. McKeown is survived by stepchildren: Cyril McKeown of Bonarlaw, Ken McKeown of Bath, Ralph McKeown of Sudbury, Mrs. Marion McDonald of Windsor and Stewart McKeown of Toronto. There are four grandchildren and nine great-grandchildren.

Honorary bearers were: Percy Bateman, Orrie Martin Thomas McKeown, Kenneth Thompson and Arthur Reid.

Pall bearers were: Hiram Munster, Reg McKeown, Edward Galloway, Harry Danford, Les McKeown and Emerson Reid.

St. Andrews' Marks 119th Anniversary

There was a large congregation on hand Sunday for the 119th Anniversary services conducted at St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Stirling. The sanctuary was tastefully decorated with baskets of autumn flowers, and organist Mrs. Harry Morrow played quiet music as the worshippers gathered, and later as the choir, and minister entered the church.

The Rev. William C. McBride, CD, BA, minister of the Campbellford and Burnbrae churches, was guest speaker for the occasion, and conducted the whole service. Rev. Roy A. Taylor took the pulpit in the visitor's charge Sunday.

Prior to coming to Campbellford, Rev. McBride ministered in Sudbury for eight years and was chairman of the selection committee that interviewed Mr. Taylor when he decided to enter the ministry.

Special music for the service included three congregational hymns, an anthem by the choir entitled "Rejoice, Give Thanks," and a solo by Mrs. Arthur Duncan, "Bless This House." Rev. McBride also told a short children's story and led in singing a children's hymn before the youngsters retired to the Sunday School.

The sermon was based on the text from the New Testament, where Christ asked his disciples "Whom say ye that I am?" to which Simon Peter replied, "thou art the Christ, the son of the living God."

He said during his remarks that modern society has given a new vision to man, including advanced thinking and education, but there is still the puzzle in men's mind, "Who is this one called God?" Returning to his topic, "The Church Triumphant," he commented that a true living church makes a better nation; makes people's faith stronger. "The church needs you, and you need the church," he concluded.

The first Presbyterian service was held in Stirling in 1851, and the first church was built five years later. In 1893 the old church was removed and the present one erected, making this the 119th anniversary in the existing building. The cornerstone was laid June 8, 1893 and the dedication held November 26.

HOW TO LIFT THOSE TRUSSES!

This year Stirling PL Building Centre has developed facilities to produce trusses of all types for construction purposes. There is one building at the local yard where this work is carried on, and trusses are built for all the stores of Peterborough Lumber Ltd. To adequately install these heavy items once built, the company has acquired a truck with a special hoist that can lift them into position either singly or in groups as shown in the above photo. This was taken on Rogers Drive, when trusses were delivered to the house being built by Mr. C. Copeland.

BONUS EDITION

Bonus circulation days come to the News-Argus again next week, as residents within a 10-15 mile radius of Stirling will each receive a copy of the paper. This will include about 1,500 who are not presently subscribers.

This second promotion in slightly over a month is in conjunction with the Stirling Merchants Association, which is sponsoring a free trip to Nassau for shoppers at participants. The ad by the association next week will feature the Santa Claus Parade Theme, which will take place in Stirling on Saturday, December 9. Santa and his helpers will meet the children on Mill Street as in former years and receive a bag of candy. Arrangements have also been made to have free skating at the arena following the function.

While this portion of the entertainment is being handled by the newly-formed Merchants group, there may be other business lighting decorations and the purchase of treats for the children. Merchants, not participating in the contest but who wish to contribute, should forward their donations to Stirling Merchants, c/o Douglas Bird, Treasurer. Such donors will be recognized in the Santa Claus promotion page.

Interest so far seems high in the promotion, which has about a month left to run. Shoppers at any of the 15 participants will receive a ballot to fill out and deposit in the proper receptacle. The draw will be made December 23, with the winner receiving an all-expense paid trip for two to Nassau in the Bahamas Island area of the Atlantic.

Sponsors of the promotion are: Mouck's Crest Hardware; Shoe Store; Stedman's Dealer Store; Noble's Drug Store; Ladies Wear; St. Pierre Radio and TV; The Stirling News-Argus; Stirling Lumber; Patterson's Men's Wear and Stirling Motors (Stirling) Ltd.

Why us?

Congratulations are in order for those seven men who have seen fit to stand for public office in Stirling for the term which begins in January. There seems to be a good balance of experienced and inexperienced blood on the council and public utility commission, which should make for good government.

The same comments would apply to municipal officers in the Township of Rawdon, also our two representatives on the Hastings County Board of Education.

What makes one wonder a little, is why do these two communities seem to be an island of voter or candidate indifference? There are elections in Huntingdon, Sidney, Belleville and Trenton. Are we to assume (a) those people take their politics more seriously than Stirling and Rawdon; or (b) their residents are less content to allow acclamations than ours.

Just which case fits is difficult, if not impossible, to judge. What does make one wonder is that in a village of over 1,100 electors, there are only eight persons who feel they have the time or ability or interest to serve in public life.

Now that the current campaign is completed, perhaps it might be time to reflect and consider offering yourself for candidacy in 1974.

Service?

The word "service" as related to relations between tradesmen and the general public which need a variety of repairs done, seems to have disappeared from the vocabulary of many businesses today and local firms are by no way exempt.

In several instances calls to local service businesses have resulted in the answer "I can't come for two weeks," or "I'll come as soon as I can," and that turns out to be perhaps a month.

There are also local businesses which have adopted a policy of servicing what they sell, which is an admirable policy, because it makes their work easier, but what about the person who for any number of reasons has purchased an article before moving to Stirling. Is this person to be penalized by having to pay for more expensive service from Belleville or Trenton?

There appears to be a shortage of two principle services in the community—repairs to electrical appliances, especially smaller ones, and plumbing. From personal experience, it took calls to about five firms, including some out of town before any firm answer was received, to resolve a plumbing problem that existed for about a month.

There is a market also for other types of service, if investigation was made.

This is not to castigate any present business. Rather it appears there is a facility on-facilities lacking in the community, and if this is some way made known, perhaps there might be some solution forthcoming.

St. Andrew's group meets

Mrs. Sheldon McIntosh was hostess for the November meeting of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Women.

The President Mrs. K. Tompkins opened with a poem "Sacrifice" and led in prayer.

Mrs. Pearl McGee was in charge of the worship service and opened with hymn, 486. Mrs. Don Farney and Mrs. Earl Fox read the two scripture readings and Mrs. Lloyd Dafeo gave the meditation emphasizing that "a heart at peace with God is without worry and fear". A prayer for peace and understanding brought the devotional to a close.

Mrs. McIntosh favoured with an organ solo "Let there be Peace". Miss Gena Spry gave a reading "God keep watch between me and the, this is my prayer".

The offering was received and dedicated by Mrs. Tompkins. The roll call was answered by a Bible verse containing the word "peace". Various items of business were discussed and final plans for the Presbyterian dinner were made.

Mrs. Tompkins gave a report on the Fall Rally held at Deseronto.

The topic on peace was given by Mrs. James Johnston. One of the things she pointed out was "the search for peace must begin in the homes. From there we must reach by every possible means of contact those quite near at hand, then from near to far and

CONTRIBUTED BY STIRLING CLERGYMEN

(By W.C. Cox)

THE CHURCH STILL HAS SOME THING TO OFFER

What does the church have to offer today? What does she have to offer to the man who seems to have everything? The church does not offer more possessions, a fancier car or greater luxuries. The church does not say that money and possessions are not important. It says that there are things that are even more important. These are the things the church talks about and tries to embody: truth, integrity, care, love. The church does not offer more things, it offers a different way of life, fuller, deeper, more satisfying life. The church points to something more than a man and his property; to God in whom there is strength, rest and peace. It points to a God who comforts.

The church offers worship. It says that there is something higher than man and that man is meant to worship this higher being. It points out that if a man does not carve out a place in his life for the regular worship of God he is not living as God intended him to live.

The church offers fellowship. It is far from perfect but we can find warm and close fellowship in the congregation of Christ's people. The church offers its concern. It's concern for others their problems, sorrows, hunger, homelessness. Jesus called us to love one another as He did. He cared without any strings attached. He wanted people to trust Him but He did not insist on that before He cared about them. We are called to act just that way.

The church offers forgiveness. No matter how much messes a man has it will not buy him a clear conscience. Our sin has a way of building up on us, keeping going, so we can't stop. We need help. The church says there is a thing called forgiveness. There is mercy. There is help. God offers these partly through His people. What kind of a job are we doing at offering these things?

One of the great stories to come out of World War II was of the last mission of a bomber over Europe. The load had been dropped and they were about to return home when the plane was hit by a shell and badly damaged. The worst calamity was that the navigator who alone could chart a course home lay dying on the floor. They were over enemy territory and could only guess at the direction to go. In spite of his weakness and pain

TED POLLOCKThe Printed Word*The readers' turn

Once the completed paper is off the press, it becomes the duty of the "circulation department" to see to it, with the aid of various forms of transportation, that the papers reach the customers as soon as possible or at least on schedule.

These systems are as varied as one might imagine. For the News-Argus, the simplest form works best. About 90 percent of our papers are delivered through the mail. A few are sold through what are termed "dealers" where papers are left in various stores, and the owner paid a commission on what he sells.

From there up the systems get more involved, but basically the operation is the same in principle.

The two principal additions are motor routes, with cars or trucks taking bundles to various locations. The length of these will vary with the size of the paper. A large paper in what is termed the weekly class, like the Trentonian, has truck routes for about a 25 mile radius, while huge operations like the Toronto Star has trucks that cover a large portion of the province. Some papers even have air mail editions, printed on onion-skin paper which are in remote cities of the world within 24 hours of publication.

Aside from the automotive routes of various types, papers also rely to a great extent on the mail service. The papers go to the post offices sorted and bagged according to requirements, so that in reality, the postal department has no more handling than with ordinary mail, and not as much in some instances. While there are complaints from some that papers do not arrive as quickly as they should, and the publishers would like, nevertheless, the distribution works well when you consider the volume distributed and the area covered.

Once the papers are in the hands of the dealers or carrier boys, where such are used, two methods of collection take place. Dealers receive an allotment of papers per issue and usually once a month, the circulation department comes and counts the "returns" or unsold papers and charges the dealer a fixed rate. This allows him a commission for handling the papers. Carriers buy the papers from the newspaper and in reality are in business for themselves. They pay the stipulated rate and again receive a commission for their sales. They must advise of additional papers for new customers, or cancellations as they occur to keep their account in balance. One of the principal tasks of circulation department that have carriers is keeping or acquiring new newspaper carrier salesmen.

Mail subscriptions are kept track of on a card system of some type and the entry date shows on the label. Postal authorities may order cancellation of papers not paid for on the date of mailing, but this is a rare occurrence.

Many readers may have noticed that in their papers they belong to an organization called the "Audit Bureau of Circulations" or ABC for short. This is an independent auditing firm that visits member papers on a regular basis and audits their circulation accounts. They verify that the papers claimed issued to carriers and dealers along with mail subs, are actually being sent. Through a complex and detailed report system, each paper has monthly an ABC figure, and this is brought up to date by the audit. Auditors usually lower the current figure slightly, but not enough to vary the count much.

The importance of ABC to daily papers, and large weeklies, is that with an audited circulation figure, advertising representatives can go to local customers or national clients and state that they can guarantee the advertising message will reach a certified number of readers. As the circulation climbs, papers can base rate increased for advertising rates on the strength of reaching more subscribers.

Ban on snow dumping same

Analyses conducted by the Ontario Ministry of the Environment and other agencies over the past few years have shown that snow taken from roadways may contain a high concentration of suspended solids, dissolved salts, organic and nutrient materials and other contaminants. In an effort to minimize the polluting effects of these materials on rivers and lakes Environment Ontario issued a statement in November 1971, to the effect that direct disposal of snow to watercourses should be eliminated wherever possible.

A second technical task force was formed to look into the problems of snow disposal. This committee, made up of representatives from Environment Ontario and several other provincial ministries, the Federal Department of the Environment and a number of municipalities throughout Ontario, met to formulate a policy on snow disposal that would be acceptable to the entire province. An evaluation of data collected by the task force indicates that the quantity of pollutants found in the snow varies considerably from region to region. Studies will therefore continue to more fully determine the optimum course of action that should be taken by the province.

For the coming winter, environmental policy will be the same as last year with one slight change. The law of any disposal of snow which will permit the discharge of pollutants directly into a watercourse will be continued. However, under emergency conditions disposal of snow of acceptable quality could be allowed where alternative means for direct disposal will be required prior to the commencement of the winter season. Ministry of the Environment, The receiving watercourse will then be evaluated and permission to dispose of snow in this manner will be granted or denied.

To the Electors of Huntingdon Township

I have qualified as a candidate for 1973 Huntingdon Council and ask your support at the polls December 4th. Some items that I consider important are:

- (a) Property Tax — Hold tax line while supplying essential services.
 - Another voice in our drive for amendments to the education tax law.
 - (One suggestion is to relieve our senior citizens of education tax.)
- (b) Moirs Lake — A survey must be taken to determine a future course in correcting the problem of dead end and branch roads in one of Huntingdon's largest growth areas.
- (c) Garbage Pickup — Garbage left overnight should be kept in barrel or suitable containers to prevent pollution.

RESOURCES AND THE ENVIRONMENT

The authorities expanded their role in a careful, shrewd manner, since they were putting their local tax dollars into every project that was innovative, and when the big picture looked, time after time, they went it alone and, by example, proved to their sometimes reluctant partner that their new and expanded role filled a need in their watershed.

The government, recognizing the viability of authorities, got deeper into the partnership by setting up a small branch of experts to guide and counsel authorities who were now expanding to include larger reservoirs, flood control dams, parks, recreation, outdoor education, fish hatcheries and LATELY into management of scenic, cultural, historic, and conservation sites through the vehicle of the heritage foundation.

The authorities have still to convince the government that assistance should be forthcoming for such projects as Black Creek Pioneer Village. Despite the fact that 1/4 of a million people per year from not only Metropolitan Toronto, but the whole of the province, as well as the United States, and other provinces, come to see the reconstructed historical village in the centre of a two and a half million people metropolis.

This outstanding example of our past is supported 100 percent by fees collected at the gate, and the deficit is picked up by the Metro Toronto and Region Conservation Authority.

In September of 1970, at the Biennial Conference at Sudbury, the conservation authorities of Ontario presented a position paper to the province entitled "Who Speaks For Our Environment?"

Months before there was EVEN a Department of the Environment in Ontario. A select committee was appointed to study conservation and a very comprehensive report was submitted to the government in 1967 and in part I would like to quote the following from this report: "The Conservation Authorities' movement was born out of a concept of personal and community responsibility for the use and management of the renewable natural resources of the province. The responsibility has been accepted by the people who assume their personal and municipal involvement with dedication and look upon their achievements with pride."

"Conservation Authorities are designed to carry out a specific function." The people who make up these bodies are citizens representing the communities involved and, as such, are in a position to reflect the views and wishes of those municipalities in regard to the problems and programs which are undertaken. "The Conservation Authorities use as their unit or organization the watershed or river valley, an area where it is usual for a community of interests to prevail. It is in such an area that dependence of one resource on another can be seen most clearly, where water quantity is reflected in land use patterns, tree cover dictates wildlife habitat, and the enjoyment of these resources relates directly to their condition and accessibility to the people."

"Conservation Authorities serve a dual role. As operational organizations they have powers to plan, develop, and maintain projects, while as co-ordinating bodies they are able to fully utilize the services and resources of all the departments of government and outside agencies. The result is an organization which is flexible, people oriented, locally controlled, and has available to it the full range of government resources and direction."

The select committee on Conservation Authorities endorses the fundamental thoughts and basic knowledge of the Conservation Authorities' approach to the management of our renewable natural resources.

Environmental management and involvement of people are two subjects of deepest concern to all governments across Canada today.

However, they are not new subjects to the government of Ontario. As in so many other instances, Ontario has pointed the way, not only for other provinces, most recently Manitoba, but for the Federal Government also. Three outstanding examples are in the fields of pollution control, farm drainage, and environmental management.

The Conservation Authorities Act embodies all the popular management ideas that today are put forward with so much emotion as basic needs for a quality environment. But Conservation Authorities have been practicing environmental management through water control and good land, forestry and wildlife management for a quarter of a century.

In addition, authorities have provided recreation facilities in over 275 conservation areas and they have acquired 4,125 acres of scenic land on the Niagara Escarpment. Their combined land holdings total more than 180,000 acres, all of which are, or shortly will be open to some form of recreation. Most of these lands would have been unavailable to the public had it not been for the foresight of the Government of Ontario in passing the act 26 years ago.

The authorities are tapping local initiatives and interest to further the total conservation program of the province. Authorities function as co-ordinators of the various services and facilities available from the various government departments for their own watershed area. Authorities are in an excellent position to know the needs and problems at the local level and how the various services can best be used. Regardless of which department is assigned responsibility for the administration of the Conservation Authorities Act, for Authorities to be successful in translating provincial policies for conservation, the environment, and resources management, it will be essential for the Authorities to work with all department of government.

The Government of Ontario has never been able to develop a vehicle better suited to keeping a finger on the pulse of John Q. Public right from the village pump through to the provincial level and it has no better Public Relations Officer to advise it on testing new ideas in the environmental field than conservation authorities. Conservation authorities are made up of varied public spirited individual people...NOT civil servants...therefore they cannot be structured like a department of government. It is only within the last few months that the Conservation Authorities were, after many months of anxiety, relieved to learn that in the recent shuffling at Queen's Park, they would still remain as viable, or perhaps more viable, than before. We now can say that finally we can write a letter to our Minister asking for authorizations, without it going through at least six different people.

On Friday night, Stirling Pee Wees set back Bancroft 7-2. Bill Faulkner picked up the lone goal in the first period while Rodney Barry Danford assisted by Brett Haggerty and Mark Montgomery assisted also scored in the second period. The Pee Wees play in Campbellford tonight at 7:15 p.m. while Frankford visits Stirling Friday night at 7:30 p.m. Stirling travels to Marmora Monday night for a 7 p.m. game.

Postal auction has some real buys

"GOING ONCE..." How would you like to buy 75 used lighters?

Or 96 used watches? Twenty-four pieces of chalk for pool cues? Assorted spark plugs? An Income Tax Act book? A barber set? Snowshoes? Or even Christmas decorations?

These were some of the items in the more than 1,000 parcels that were sold at last year's annual Canada Post Office Auction in Regina, Sask.

One of last year's parcels contained 34 articles of men's cosmetics - after shave lotion, cologne, deodorant and soap. Another one had 60 English door pulls and a third included two pairs of snowmobile boots - sizes 9 and 10.

This is how the Post Office disposes of parcels and items which cannot deliver - sometimes because the address is incorrect or incomplete, and there is no return address. More often it is because the parcels are badly wrapped and items break loose in the mail stream.

In Montreal This year 1,152 unclaimed parcels were auctioned off on November 8th in Montreal. These parcels ranged from adult and children's clothing to toys and tools and were gathered at the undeliverable Mail Office (U.M.O.) in Ottawa.

"We had just about everything here," said a Post Office spokesman. "You name it, we had it." The loose or lost items were assembled into various categories, and then listed and stored prior to shipment to the site of the auction.

The first auction sale was held in the early 1920s. It is one way the Post Office can show the public what happens when articles have been misaddressed or have not been packed properly.

The number of parcels fluctuates yearly, depending on the volume of merchandise. One year over 1,300 were auctioned off. The sale is always held in a major centre, alternating between different parts of Canada every year. In the last three years, it has been held in London, Halifax and Regina respectively.

Postal Revenue The money collected at the auction goes into postal revenue. Last year's gross amount was $25,182, of which the auctioneer receives a percentage.

A large number of parcels have already been made up for next year's auction sale, the location of which has not yet been chosen. And the heavy Christmas mailings have not yet started. Items destined for overseas are mailed in October and November and it is during these months that the Undeliverable Mail Office becomes flooded with parcels.

The Post Office Department provides a big assist to the customer attending the auction by offering for sale a catalogue, which lists the contents of each parcel. Most of the catalogues are distributed in the area where the auction is held.

"This auction has proved to be very popular," said the spokesman. "It seems that people really like auctions. There are always some very good bargains at this one."

The Midgets play Wednesday night in Campbellford at 8:30 p.m. while Bancroft travels to Stirling next Monday night for a 9 p.m. encounter.

Stirling Juniors defeated Brighton 6-2 Friday night in their league opener. Rob Arhuckle assisted by Brian Ackers and Ken Jaccett assisted by Bill Jaccett and Paul Whittam opened Stirling's scoring in the first period. Goals by Ron Andrews from Art Reid, Bill Jaccett from Rob DeLong and Ken Jaccett, and Rob Arhuckle from Brian Ackers increased Stirling's lead in the second period. Ken Jaccett from Bill Jaccett rounded off Stirling's scoring in the third period. The Juniors played last night in Warworth. This Friday night they will meet Marmora at the local arena at 9 p.m.

Stirling Novice and Pee Wee Legion House League hockey begins this Saturday morning. In the Novice division, Woodstock Auto Parts meet R.D. Cooke Carriage at 9 a.m. and Bird's Carriage at 9 a.m. In the Pee Wee division, Riverside Construction play Stirling Rotary at 10:30 a.m. and Elaine Footwear meet the Legion Novice All-Stars at 11:30 a.m.

DOJARS & GOOD SENSE

by WILLIAM J. MARTIN
Special Consultant to Auto Financial Services

I'll continue with my discussions from two previous columns of the budget problems of the newly married.
One item I mentioned in talking about fixed expenses was insurance payments.

Insurance is expensive to a young couple, and it takes some pretty good budgeting to include some premiums. Usually, the only insurance a couple has when starting out is a policy on the family car.
For young drivers, this is a big expense.

But how about life insurance, accident insurance or household insurance?

These are all very important to a sound financial plan.

Life insurance never gets any cheaper as one grows older, so the young married couple should not delay in establishing some type of policy.

As for renters insurance (since most young couples usually start out as renters), it's important right away.
Even for couples in furnished apartments, there is too much to be lost to avoid the fairly small annual premiums, from clothes to stereos.

Don't be afraid to talk to a good salesman. He will be able to tailor a program to your needs to keep the premium payments low during the first few years and then gradually increase them as your income and responsibility increases.

Visit several companies and compare policies, prices and benefits. But don't put insurance off. It's an important part of establishing a sound family financial program.

Readers' questions are welcome and should be sent to Box 5875 London, Ontario.

The theme is "God in our Midst," and the speaker, Rev. W.J. Price, Executive Secretary for the Bay of Quinte Conference, will speak on "The Spirit of Saskatoon." Hold MUSIC WEEK

The third week of November was known as Canada Music Week and to impress the public the Ontario Registered Music Teachers' Association recommended seven practical points for parents.

1. Choice of teacher - Ensure a solid foundation for your child's musical education by choosing the best teacher available. The young children (4 to 6 years) should be entrusted only by a teacher who has had special training and/or experience in teaching this age-group.

2. Parent-teacher co-operation - Occasional parent-teacher conferences are invaluable, but these should not be held in the presence of the child.

3. A well-tuned piano is essential - Keep your piano in tune at all times. Failure to do so, will cause untold damage to the child's musical ear.

4. Formation of musical taste - Give your child every available opportunity of hearing good music. Thus, his musical taste will be influenced in the right direction.

5. Daily practice period - Set aside definite periods of the day for practice, and if you expect results - see that these are a number of short periods are preferable to one long one, and here, parental supervision is all-important.

6. Encouragement is vital to the younger performer - Encourage your child to participate in the recitals, festivals and other concerts, and to perform at home for family and friends. When he does so, be generous in expression.

Loyalist College was host to a seminar on Thursday and Friday, November 23 and 24. The seminar investigated and discussed the recently initiated programs to train mental retardation - counsellors at community colleges.

The College has been involved with Prince Edward Heights and with this type of training since September, 1971, and it is expected that the training model devised between the College and Prince Edward Heights will be adopted across the entire province.

Others who attended the recital were Mr. and Mrs. Earl Ketchen, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hoard, Linda and Kenneth Hoard, Mr. and Mrs. Ken Lang, Martin, Selenia, Nelson and Julie-Kay Lang.

Senior Citizens hold meeting

With Margaret Fitchett at the piano our meeting opened on Thursday with a lively song led by Fred Heasman. Let's do it more often, we liked that!

Florence Dafeo was top lady at euchre and Myrtle Tanner, playing as a man, was also high, did ole Scribe and Mary Cook couldn't play worth a hoot. We played one game against Myrtle Tanner and Helen Saries although we were going to have to open the door and air out the place, but we finally did get one point. Mary and I both agreed that we would sooner have Myrtle's luck than a license to steal. Edith Bradshaw and George Saries also got prizes.

The lunch was enjoyed by all and was supplied by Florence Dafeo, Florence MacMullen, Flossie Geen and Bessie Rodgers.

Our pre-Christmas dinner is for sure now. It will be on Dec. 14th at St. Paul's United Church. We are requested to be there at 12:15 sharp.

Ardeth Annette, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack N. Wilson, R.R. 3, Stirling and Larry James, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Chard, R.R. 5, Belleville were united in marriage on November 4, 1972 at 2 p.m. by Rev. W. Hultwell in Full Gospel Church, Frankford Ont. The organist was Mrs. Clifford Stillman, Trenton, aunt of the bride. Soloist was Mrs. Jack Wallis, Frankford. The church was enhanced by baskets of white baby mums, pink gladioli and pink carnations. Given in marriage by her parents, the bride wore a floor length gown of white imported nylon allure, which featured ruffled collar and long sleeves applied with daisies and seed-pearls, Empire bodice, demi-belle skirt with ruffled hemline also applied with daisies and seedpearls. Her headpiece was a circlet of appliqued nylon allure attached to a chapel length veil of silk illusion. She carried a lace covered Bible topped with red roses and lily of the valley, while streamers caught with red rosebuds. The bride was attended by Mrs. Brian Brown, Trenton, aunt of the groom, as matron of honor, who wore a floor length sheath with sky blue skirt and ribboned bodice with panels of cream chiffon. It featured the new bishop look long sleeves with tight wrist. Her headpiece was a sky blue velvet bow and flower.

Hold Federation banquet at Ivanhoe

Gerry Carey, program co-ordinator for the Department of Agriculture, called for more support from county farmers to the Ontario Federation of Agriculture Association at the annual meeting of the Hastings County Federation Saturday night in the Huntingdon Township Hall, Ivanhoe.

Mr. Carey, before taking the position as field-man and program co-ordinator for an area between Toronto and Montreal, ran a small farm near Stratford where he became the president of the Ontario Cream Federation. Mr. Carey spoke of a regional office of the Ontario Federation of Agriculture that is to be set up hopefully within the next three months which would have a representative to serve farmers in the county. The Federation has 12,000 members in Ontario and a budget of $200,000. One of the Federation's main programs is a property tax rebate scheme. It is felt by the Federation that farmers' spendings on education in the province are out of line with other people. Mr. Carey said, He said that farmers spend over $17 million a year on education.

Many programs have been set up by the Federation giving services to farmers on such matters as property expropriation and farm machinery companies.

Mr. Carey said that farmers of the county should attend as many monthly Federation meetings as possible.

"Meetings exercise your voice in the Federation and allow you to talk about your problems with neighbors," Mr. Carey said. Going to the meetings shows your interest and most of all, gives the Federation direction."

Other guests to the annual meeting were Mr. and Mrs. Harry Brown of Stirling who showed slides taken during a trip to Scotland and Wales last summer.

Burton Hubble thanked the guests and presented them with small gifts. Also at the head table were Mr. and Mrs. Alex McCurdy, president of the Hastings Federation; Mr. and Mrs. Allan McDonnell, secretary; Glen Bush, treasurer; Mr. and Mrs. Ivan May, first vice-president and Mr. and Mrs. Ray Donnan, second vice-president. Harry VanWinkoop, OFA Director introduced the head table following a dinner served by the Ivanhoe Women's Institute.

Also in attendance at the annual banquet were Russell Sills, Reeve Huntingdon Township who welcomed the guests to the hall; Carman Gibson, county warden; Jack Ellis, Member of Parliament for Hastings Riding; Gordon Wilman, Reeve, Sidney Township; Mack Brown, President of the Prince Edward County Federation of Agriculture; and Wayne Martin, Stirling Agricultural Representative.

There's a fairly new type of home mortgage available in the U.S. that could nose out the popular FHA (Federal Housing Authority) financing program soon.

Like FHA, it offers a low down payment loan, but instead of waiting for a couple of months for processing, this only takes a couple of days. It's a private mortgage insurance program being offered by savings and loan associations. With it, an S&L can lend you up to 95% of the purchase price of a home.

Although the cost is somewhat higher than a conventional loan, this new plan combines the best features of conventional and FHA loans - low down payment and speed. The qualifications are usually less stringent than FHA, too.

The private insurance only covers the top 15 or 20% of the total loan. You either pay a flat one-time fee of two or three per cent, or a surety charge of a quarter or half per cent on your interest rate.

If you're home shopping this winter, look into this private mortgage insurance program at your local savings and loan institutions. It could help you move into your new home a little sooner.

Readers' questions are welcome and should be sent to Box 5876 London, Ontario.

Good business?

A recent announcement from the Canadian Transport Commission makes one wonder just how we can rationalize continuing subsidies to keep an obviously dying enterprise alive with the continued rise in the cost of living. Reference is made, of course, to the pumping of another ten million dollars a year into the rail passenger service in western Ontario, rather than allow the lines to close out the operations which are losing money badly.

There may be certain sections of the country where rail service, for passengers, is the only means of transport. It may also be the only way in which they can economically receive supplies. In such cases there is an argument for keeping lines open.

It should also be argued that south of highway 17, at least, rail service has disappeared as a useful entity for passenger and mail service, at least in Ontario. The former mail service many centres enjoyed was cancelled because there was a cut back of trains, which in turn were cut back due to declining business. This makes economic sense.

During the past few years, we have heard of other subsidies being given to cover up to 80 per cent of the losses of certain routes. This may be needed, as mentioned in some cases, but it would appear the government is afraid to face the reality that passenger rail service is a dying service in Canada. There may still be a few romantics who wish to travel this way, and there are still steam locomotive buffs who want to keep that phase of travel alive somewhat. But the quantity involved hardly justifies pouring huge sums into the rail lines just to keep them solvent.

Today's travel by plane for expediency and car and bus for enjoyment provides the most adequate transportation possible. Let's wake up to the fact that the twentieth century belongs now to the jet age, and the trains, for passengers at least, are done.

Safe Driving Week does save lives

Many people take the view that traffic fatalities are statistically as inevitable, and nearly as unvarying as taxes. But there is an annual miracle that confounds these cynics. It is called Safe Driving Week and is observed every year, since 1956, December 1-7.

During S-D Week traffic fatalities are consistently lower... and SUBSTANTIALLY lower... than the average for the time of year. This occurs year after year, without exception, in all provinces of Canada.

It happened again in 1971. There were 68 traffic deaths in Canada December 1-7, 17 of these being in Ontario. In 1970 the total was 63; in 1969, 65. But the year-round average of traffic deaths is over 100 a week, and the weeks preceding and following Safe Driving Week always show death totals 50% or more higher than the first seven days in December.

This national campaign is sponsored by Canada Safety Council, and backed in Ontario by the Ontario Safety League, says Fred H. Ellis, OSL General Man.

Keeping it clean

with Bill Dodds

My kitchen tap was leaking the other day. I didn't think much of it. I just walked to the hardware store for a tap washer.

But after the repair work was done, I had time to wonder just how much water dripped away during the week or so the tap was leaking.

When I asked at the office, I could hardly believe the answer. They said 1,700 gallons. That's 170 gallons a day from a slow drip. If it had got worse, to a fast drip, the water waste would have gone as high as 900 gallons.

I started thinking about the water I use, and I discovered that the average toilet used from five to seven gallons of water every time it doesn't have to. If you fill a plastic bottle with water, weight it with a stone and put it in a corner of the tank where it won't interfere with the operation, you can save an equivalent volume of water every flush.

When you spend five to 10 minutes under the shower, 50 to 100 gallons of water go down the drain. A normal tubful uses about 25 gallons.

And to think that a few years ago, when we depended on a well for my family, I thought by showering we saved water and money—the well went dry from time to time and we had to buy water.

When you have to depend on your own water supply, you think about saving it. The person who depends on a well doesn't use half of the 150 gallons a day that flows past and through the average big city dweller. Isn't that something? 150 gallons—and the human body needs about half a gallon a day of drinking water.

Still the amount we use individually is insignificant when we look at the quantities used in our industrial processes.

A ton of paper requires up to 65,000 gallons of water in its production. A ton of steel requires up to 19,000 gallons. And about 700 gallons of water are used to process one barrel of crude oil.

It gives you some idea how fortunate we are to have our abundant supply of water. It also gives us all some incentive for making sure that our supply of water stays clean and pure. We may get even thirstier.

Compensation talk

(This is the first in a series dealing with various aspects of Workmen's Compensation in Ontario. Reader questions and comments are invited.)

Just over 58 years ago, in May of 1941, Ontario lawmakers passed legislation which became effective January 1, 1945, embodying an approach based on an entirely new set of principles in providing the province's workers with protection against often disastrous results of being injured in the course of their work. Based on recommendations following a three-year study of compensation systems throughout the world by former provincial Chief Justice, Sir William Meredith, the Ontario Workmen's Compensation Act of 1944 was advanced "model" legislation for its time.

Amongst the 1944 Act's innovative provisions:

Payment compensation was guaranteed through establishment of a special fund raised by levies on the province's employers. It was no longer a question of whether management felt inclined to compensate an injured worker or could afford to do so. The cost of providing compensation was to be shared by all employers and incorporated as a cost of doing business in Ontario.

Anyone suffering a work injury was entitled to compensation as a matter of right, regardless of negligence on anyone's part. A sharp departure from not only having to prove negligence on the part of the employer, but also to get around the "assumption of risk" tactic under which some employers had formerly argued that employees in certain categories should have been aware of and accepted the possibility of injury because of the nature of their work.

There was to be no further recourse to the courts for damages, with compensation guaranteed, as a matter of right, the need for costly, to both employer and employees, and often bitter, long drawn out litigation was eliminated.

In the more than half a century since Sir William Meredith established major objectives and set out basic framework under which they might be achieved, Workmen's Compensation in Ontario has maintained leadership in this vital field of social legislation.

The Act and its regulations establish the benefits - financial, medical and rehabilitation - to which an injured workman is entitled. It is the responsibility of the Workmen's Compensation Board, Ontario, to make certain an injured workman gets his full entitlement.

In broad outline, this is what Workmen's Compensation in Ontario is all about. Details of the system and the methods by which the Board fulfills its responsibilities in today's complex socio-economic environment will be discussed in future columns.

Kitchen Wedding Follows Courtship In Sunny Garden

by Jack Wilcox

If you're one of those who observes how marriages are faring from time to time, you may want to tell your friends about the perfect bliss and the lasting qualities of Basil, and the gorgeous tomato he has wed and treated so well.

Back in the thirties, a dish was served that our family grew on when the rigors and economies of a depression hit our hometown along with hometowns around the world. It is called herb scalloped tomatoes; as a dish served with ham, it has no equal in my opinion.

You will search for a long time before you find the mixture that serves up the nostalgia, aroma, and down-to-earth good flavor that you all from youth. It is, however, in the Laura Secord book, which has had a renewed printing and is available at most book stores or from the publishers, McClelland and Stewart Limited in Toronto.

The book is from a manuscript put together by home economists across the country, and is edited in large part by one of the best, Ms. Sally Henry, of Maple Leaf Mills.

The book features regional Canadian dishes; it also contains many fine international concoctions proudly served up by Canadians in Saskatoon, Winnipeg, Toronto, and all over; people who may have slight food prejudices of Ukrainian, Polish, or Italian origin.

You don't have to cook to read and enjoy, either. This will tell you why tortiers, boysenberry pie, and blueberry grunt—as well as cacciatore and natchyska—weave important patterns in the fabric of a nation.

THE STIRLING NEWS-ARGUS, Wednesday, November 29, 1972 5

If you want a book that you will treasure, try it. I have obtained one for the five children of the household, since many of their favorites come from it.

For herb scalloped tomatoes, preheat the oven to 375 degrees. Then in a medium saucepan melt 3 tablespoons of butter. To the butter, add 2½ cups small bread cubes (if you freeze the bread first it will cube beautifully); 1½ teaspoons of instant minced onion; ½ teaspoon of basil leaves; and 1 teaspoon of parsley flakes. Toss this mixture together.

ATTENTION HUNTINGDON ELECTORS

I, Hazel Mitchell, seeking election as your Deputy Reeve feel a few points should be reviewed of the Meeting held for Candidates at Municipal Hall.

1. Although threatened with crucifixion, nothing could deter me from attending the Nomination as your Deputy Reeve. Yes, I have guts and will not be intimidated by anyone.
2. Also, although the only woman on the ballot, I accept the challenge with relish and confidence. I promise to present all problems brought to my attention before the Council as promptly as possible. This represents all electors, farmers, residents of township and cottagers of Moira Lake.
3. My concern for your lives, homes and children is genuine. It does not burn me up! Instead I took action and privately bought the large fire truck at Tweed, to put out your fires. I therefore offer the fire truck Viking at cost to the Huntingdon Council.
4. Should the Council not accept my generous offer it poses no problem to myself, as I originally intended to buy it for my own use in business. However, I find your need of it is greater than my own. I am a person of action. I can't sit idly by and think about it when it concerns lives. You jeopardize your neighbour when their truck comes to your aid. The cost should be very low as your insurance rates should help to counterbalance rates. Ajax, Ontario has a foolproof system and could be used.
5. Farmers, I am not a city slicker. I live in Dunbarton on an acre, with a large farm adjoining. I consider every farmer an engineer, because he has to be to look after his equipment, crops and have his farm on a paying basis to support his family. Therefore, I can help you in many ways.
6. My point about garbage collection is that all aspects should have been thoroughly thought out before the plan was put in use.
7. Local garbage collector did not have proper opportunity to make bid. He employs people from Huntingdon and Madoc and is a ratepayer. He knows all areas and would have picked up garbage on Monday mornings. His equipment is adequate. I attended meetings to ask why and am still not satisfied with the answers received.
8. Roads and weed spraying is lacking in many areas and should be corrected.
9. Snow ploughing of private lanes is illegal by township and must be handled by private enterprise.
10. Although offered Highway property in other areas, I still wish to purchase acreage on Highway 62 in Huntingdon and offer to serve you to the best of my ability, which matches anyone on the Council. Equal rights is all I ask! I am a deer not a seat warmer, yet a good listener. I am concerned for the welfare of every resident and the lack of employment and entertainment in the community. I hope to change this.
11. I don't like poor sportsmen, but will defend my right and yours to a fair hearing if elected as Deputy Reeve.
12. Meetings attended by all ratepayers should be held preferably on Wednesday evenings, to allow citizens at business in daytime, to attend meetings and voice their views.

Your ballot marked X Hazel Mitchell as Deputy Reeve will be greatly appreciated. Thank You.

c/o Mr. O'Leary, R.R. No. 2, Stirling.

Mail addresses often like jigsaw puzzle

Where would you send a letter addressed to ARPAD UT 10 SXAM?

That's exactly the kind of problem facing Canada Post Office sorters every day for mail going overseas.

More than 200,000 such letters handled annually at the Montreal Post Office's air mail and foreign surface section had undecipherable or incomplete addresses.

The biggest headache for sorters is when the writing is difficult or impossible to decipher. On some letters the address is typed or written in a foreign language. Often the name of the city or country is left out.

These letters are screened by a group of postal experts, who try to determine the correct address before forwarding each letter to its destination or, if unsuccessful, returning it to the sender (providing, of course, there is a return address).

The problem is sometimes solved by leading through three volumes of the International List of Post Offices. Each volume has more than 700 pages.

The list came in very handy when a letter was received in Montreal with the last line of the address reading simply "Cebu City". A check of one of the volumes revealed that Cebu City is a Post Office in the Philippines.

Other times experience helps. Occasionally a hint as to the destination of a letter is provided from the locality in which it was posted.

"The problem of undecipher-

can of tomatoes, or 2 1/2 cups. Stir in 1 teaspoon granulated sugar, and 1/2 teaspoon salt.

Arrange alternate layers of tomatoes and bread cubes in a buttered, shallow 4-cup casserole ending with bread cubes. Bake, uncovered in the 375 degree oven, for 20 minutes. You can place it under the broiler after it has baked to brown the topping, if desired.

If you have teen-agers around, I advise you to make double this quantity.

Jack Wilcox, Toronto management consultant and father of five, is a chevalier of the Confrerie de la Chaine des Rotisseurs, the world's first gourmet society founded in 1248 A.D.

able or incomplete addresses is increasing all the time because more and more people are arriving from Europe to reside in Canada," said E.W. Lewis, program administrator of the Post Office's National Operations Branch.

"It is at the stage now where it is costing a lot of money to handle," he said.

The Post Office is trying something new to help alleviate the problem. Quite simply, local postmasters are being asked to try to contact the sender in order to "correct" these letters before they are sent on their way.

"This way the local postmaster is helping both the customer and the Post Office," Mr. Lewis said.

However, if a local postmaster cannot contact the sender, the letter is then forwarded to the nearest overseas mail exchange office (there are ten in Canada) where it is examined with the help of the International List of Post Offices.

Overseas mail exchange offices are located in post offices in Vancouver, Calgary, Edmonton, Regina, Saskatoon, Winnipeg, Toronto, Montreal, Halifax, and St. John's, Newfoundland.

"The new system will speed up the processing of this type of mail," Mr. Lewis said, "and alleviate the burden which, until now, fell on just one post office (Montreal)."

"The big advantage for the customer is that his letter won't get mixed up with the thousands of other such letters in the Montreal office."

"If we can educate the public about the importance of proper addressing," Mr. Lewis added, "it will help not only the Post Office, but customers as well, by speeding up the delivery of these letters."

You would probably still be trying to figure out what to do with ARPAD UT 10 SXAM.

Let's talk about a car loan.

And how we can get you rolling.

If you're thinking of trading your car, we should talk. We've been involved in financing cars for a long time. And we've worked with probably every dealer in town. So we can put together a loan that'll suit you without getting you in over your head.

We can even talk about one type of loan that gives you the full price of your car. Even if you're not a customer.

We do that because we know helping you do something is the best way to make you one. Come on in. And let's talk cars.

Let's talk.

A FORUM ABOUT MATURE WOMEN

SMELL THE ROSES
Dear Margaret Brookfield:
My husband and I will both be 62 at the end of this year. We've had a good marriage and a very busy life, raising our large family. He retired two years ago, but I'm still working at my sales job. (I plan to keep working because I just can't imagine myself joining my husband in front of the TV after my housework and grocery shopping are done.) My husband is a person who never wants to plan ahead for anything. He wants things to be done very quickly and on the spur of the moment. "Don't take the time to smell the roses," is his favorite expression. As a result, we can never make any plans to travel, go to a movie or out to dinner, or even visit our three married children who live nearby. All my husband wants to do is stay home and have the children drop by whenever they feel like it. (He wants them to know he's always available and ready to help with any projects or problems they might have.) My husband is talking now about our moving to Florida. We have two daughters still in college and he wants me to quit my job next year after they graduate so we can make that move. The location wouldn't make any difference to me since I could live very modestly anywhere. It's just that I don't want to stop working. Much as I love my husband, I need the stimulation and contact I have with people on my job. I'm just afraid things will be dull if I stop working.

Dear H.C.:
Although you sound like the kind of person who could create an active life for herself, no matter where she lived, your husband might need to find a new center for his life, if you moved to Florida. Since his current interests center around your family, moving away from the children would create a vacuum for him. It would seem that before contemplating a move to Florida, the development of new interests for you both would be a matter to consider most seriously. Going down there and looking around first might also be a good idea. (To make such a change in your lives without any advance planning doesn't make sense.) And somebody had better tell your husband that retirement is the time when one can do all the things there wasn't the leisure for earlier. One can really take the time to "smell the roses" then.

UP THE WALL

Dear Margaret Brookfield:
Do men go through the "change" too? I think my husband is going through it. He's 50 and seems to be having "hot flashes." He insists that every window and door be open, even in the coldest weather. People who visit us are always so chilly, they must keep their coats and jackets on. Although I have hot flashes of my own, I try not to complain. This problem, however, is driving me up the wall. And I can't live in a sweater forever. What can I do about it?

P. B.

Dear P.B.:
Men in their 50's may have difficulties in adjusting to the fact that they're not young lads anymore, but they don't go through the menopause as women do. (It's a matter of hormonal differences.) With women, there's a leveling off of the female hormone - estrogen - and this can be responsible for hot flashes. With men, other factors are at work. You might however suggest that both you and your husband get physical checkups - which you should do annually anyway. Then you could discuss with your doctor your own hot flashes too. (There's no reason for a woman to suffer this common estrogen replacement therapy has been found to relieve it.) Your husband's problem, however, might be a bit more complicated. If there's no immediate solution for it, you might have to stock up on ear muffs as well.

DIVORCED MOTHER

Dear Margaret Brookfield:
Perhaps you could help me to help my mother. Shortly after my father died, she remarried, but it just didn't work out. (She has been divorced for 10 years and is 45 now.) I'm her only child, a daughter, age 19. My mother is a very lonely person. Although she has a job, she never goes out socially. I feel she's much happier is she could find some other way to circulate and meet some men, other than just going to work in and day out. Would you have any suggestions on this?

J. W.

Dear J.W.:
The only person who can help your mother is herself. She's the one who must want to get out and circulate. She's the one who must want to meet some men. It's difficult to say - on the basis of your letter - what might have made her withdraw so from the world. Perhaps her unhappy second marriage has made her wary of getting involved with another man. One thing you might do though is suggest taking a short vacation with her; either going to a resort together, or traveling to an interesting place. Perhaps in this way, your mother will be able to meet some men. Other than that, the impulse to be social must come directly from her.

A LOT OF WEIGHT
Dear Margaret Brookfield:
I'm 43 and have six children: twin boys of 17; and girls who are 23, 19, 16 1/2 and 3. Although I never had this problem before, I've recently gained a lot of weight. I have a wonderful husband who works two jobs. He's a mailman and loves the work, but unfortunately we can't live on only one salary. (I was married before and he supported and helped raise my four older children.) Later, I've been terribly tired, get headaches, am down in the dumps and to top it off, live in a neighborhood where the women are younger and only have one or two children; so they don't talk to someone who is older and has lots of kids. Since we have only one car, I'm really stranded here. What would you advise for someone as unhappy as I? What would you suggest I do to keep from eating?

C.C.

Dear C.C.:
Your husband, working at his two jobs, obviously can't offer you much in the way of companionship these days. Perhaps you're eating to console yourself a little. But instead of accomplishing that purpose, you're gaining weight and feeling worse rather than better. You owe it to yourself and your hard-working husband though to pull yourself together. A good way to start is by going to your doctor. Discuss your weight problems and get his professional advice on them. Also, if you're not using all your energies on housework - and very few women are these days - why not develop an interest or hobby that doesn't require the use of a car. It might be developing a play program for your younger children and those of your neighbors. Such an activity could keep you so busy and involved, you wouldn't have time to eat between meals.

CAN'T FORGET HIM
Dear Margaret Brookfield:
My daughter won't listen to me. Maybe she'll listen to you. She has been involved for more than two years with this man and now has a baby boy. After the baby was born, he still came around to see her, but recently stopped. She thinks it's because he found someone else. The man has a bad reputation and all her friends told her to quit associating with him. But even though she knew he was a real drinker, she continued seeing him. When she finally decided to forget him, he phoned one of her friends, told her he was going into the hospital for an operation and asked her to tell my daughter about this. Now my daughter is saying, "Why doesn't he just step out of my life and let me get over him completely?" As long as he keeps stepping in and out of my life, I don't want anyone else. My daughter, who's very good looking, can have any man she wants. But she loves the baby, who looks just like his father. That's why she's having so much trouble trying to forget. She says dating other men doesn't help. I keep telling my daughter to wipe that man out of her mind, but she says she can't. She needs help desperately.

Dear G. S.:

There will always be women who get involved with men who obviously aren't good for them. They seem willing to throw their lives away on such men, who apparently are unwilling to make any commitments in return. As for your daughter, you might ask her what she thinks. If she's like in five years or in ten. You might suggest that she might give some thought to her son's future. Since the child's father has not shown himself in any way to be responsible for or concerned about his son, ask her what kind of man will the little boy turn out to be when he grows up.

Quality improvements for

TODAY'S CHILD

BY HELEN ALLEN

THE TORONTO SUN SYNDICATE
With his happy smile, Randy doesn't look like a little boy with a problem. But five-year-old Randy has cerebral palsy (loss of muscle control) which handicaps him to some extent. Only Randy's right side is affected. He has near-normal use of the leg, being able to walk, run and climb. Though the use of his right hand is restricted, it is improving steadily. Randy has had physiotherapy for a year and now does exercises in his foster home. He is expected to improve still further as he continues the exercises. Tall for his age, this lad is Anglo-Saxon in descent. He has light brown hair, blue eyes and fair skin. In his early life Randy's potential was underestimated and he was registered in a special nursery school for retarded children. On his first day all the staff and the school psychologist decided he did not belong there so he was transferred to a regular nursery school. He is now in kindergarten, which he loves. Randy is a lively boy who makes no concession to his handicap in his choice of activities. He likes to be on the go and wants to do whatever other children are doing. Ingeniously designed games help his handicapped areas. Cheerful and co-operative, Randy tries hard to please. Randy needs loving parents who will provide him with stimulation, understanding and the encouragement to surmount his handicap. It will be good if he can have older brothers and sisters to take an interest in him and for him to imitate. To inquire about adopting Randy, please write to Today's Child, Box 888, Station K, Toronto. For general adoption information, please contact your local Children's Aid Society.

Another $27 goes for improved exhaust emission systems as required by the Federal Clean Air Act. Add about $10 for some voluntarily added safety features, added mostly in anticipation of future requirements, and you have about $10 left for such non-safety quality improvements as changes in engines, chassis and body.

The annual Bureau of Labor Statistics review is based on data supplied by the auto makers.

The changes may not be the kind you can easily see, but they should allow all of us to breathe a little deeper and, more importantly, a little longer. That should be worth at least as much as a new fender design or some more chrome, shouldn't it? Readers' questions are welcome and should be sent to Box 5875 London, Ontario.

Faith Unit

On November 21, Faith Unit of St. Paul's United Church Women met at the church. Mrs. E. Wannamaker received at the door, and thirty ladies attended. Mrs. Carman Fitchett opened the meeting with a thought about taking the time to pray each day. The hymn "I Need Thee Every Hour" was sung, followed by a short prayer. Reports and business followed. Two ladies contributed to the Birthday Barrel. Plans were discussed for the bale packing, the Bake Sale and Boutique, and the next meeting of the Unit, a pot-luck luncheon, early in December.

Mrs. Fitchett read a poem called "My Opportunity", with the thought of only one time passing this way.

A worship service was conducted by Mrs. N. Jensen and Mrs. M. McMullen, using the hymn, "The King of Love my Shepherd Is" and "Come we that Love the Lord", and a scripture reading from Luke about the Emmaus Road episode. Mrs. E. Wannamaker dedicated the offering.

The program on a Remembrance theme was led by Mrs. R. Chambers and Mrs. A. Bush. Mrs. Chambers brought out the point that in the future it will not be so much wars but the decisions and actions of the people that will bring about what happens. The courage and self-sacrifice in past conflicts will never be forgotten, but it is a responsibility in the present day to try to bring about the day of the Lord without war. Mrs. W. Fitchett sang a solo, "Give Peace O Lord" with Mrs. H. West at the piano. Mrs. A. Bush told about the origin of Poppy Day, and read John McLean's poem "In Flanders Fields".

The hymn, "Jesus Tender Shepherd Hear Me", and a prayer by Mrs. C. Fitchett, closed the meeting.

A special time was then enjoyed, and Miss Lenora Williams expressed the thanks of all present to all who had helped with the meeting and the repast.

Sharp drop of farm force

Fewer than 1.5 million Canadians lived on farms in 1971, Statistics Canada reported today, in a publication showing population, tenure, age and residence of operator and other details collected in the 1971 Census of Agriculture.

The new population figures represent a drop of 24 percent since 1966 and means that less than seven percent of Canadians now live on farms, compared with 10 percent in 1966 and 12 percent in 1961.

The sharpest decline was recorded in New Brunswick, which showed a loss of 47 percent of its farm population between 1966 and 1971, dropping 27,453 from 52,042.

The number of farm operators not living on their land increased to 40,154 in 1971 from 35,226 in 1966, or from eight percent of all farm operators to 11 percent. Saskatchewan had the highest proportion of non-resident operators at 24 percent, and Nova Scotia the lowest at three percent, but the growing trend to non-resident operation was evident in every province.

New information, not available from previous censuses, revealed that 92 percent of census farms were operated by private individuals, two percent by corporations, and the remainder by partnerships and other types of organizations. Nearly a third of the operators rented some or all of the land they farmed.

Campbellford farm has record production

"She has completed the largest butterfat record ever reported from any Canadian cow of any breed in any class," said John Powell, Chief of Extension for the Holstein-Friesian Assoc. of Canada, as friends, neighbours and leaders of the dairy world gathered on November 9 at the Ingholm Farm of Clare Ingram and his sons, Harold and Bruce, Campbellford, Ontario, to pay tribute to their Holstein cow, Ingholm Rag Apple President.

"Amongst the millions of records completed since Record of Performance testing of dairy cattle was established in 1905 by the Canada Department of Agriculture, no cow has exceeded her butterfat production for either of the two testing periods, 305 days and 365 days," continued Mr. Powell. "Not only that but her body conformation is superb, she having been classified Excellent, a rating achieved by less than one purebred Holstein cow in a thousand."

Starting official test as a six-year-old, Ingholm Rag Apple President produced in 305 days a total of 29,934 lbs. milk containing 1,308 lbs. fat and testing 4.37 percent butterfat. Continued on test for 365 days she gave 34,311 lbs. milk and 1,556 lbs. fat testing 4.53 percent. She was milked twice daily. Her milk production stands third for 305 days and record for 365 days for all time in Canada. With the average mature cow rated at 100 percent, the new champion's 305 day Breed Class Average production is officially rated at 251 percent for milk and 290 percent for fat. Her fat production is thus virtually three times that of the average purebred Holstein.

Ingholm Rag Apple President is not a newcomer to fame as she had previously established Championship records both as a junior two-year-old and as a senior four-year-old. She still holds the world record for fat as a senior four-year-old in 305 days on three times-a-day milking, which record is also the Canadian record for milk. Her production was 29,310 lbs. milk and 1,130 lbs. fat (3.86%), and as a junior two-year-old she gave 21,026 lbs. milk and 791 lbs. fat in 305 days and 2,828 lbs. milk and 913 lbs. fat in 365 days. In her lifetime she has been on test for four lactations - 3 of them on twice-a-day milking, with a total of 114,351 lbs. milk containing 4,717 lbs. fat, average butterfat test 4.07 percent. Her lifetime Breed Class Average (BCA) rating is 225 percent for milk and 243 percent for fat. She has actually been on test 1629 days in her lifetime for an average daily output of 75 lbs. milk, or 30 quarts. In her latest lactation she started off at 100 lbs. a day and reached a top of 133 lbs. (53 quarts), and was still producing 71 lbs. daily at the end of 365 days. She is due to calve December 12.

The previous Canadian champion for fat was Kingda Admin Kulla, owned by Endel Tolger, Muriilo, Ontario, with her production of 1285 lbs. in 305 days and 1436 lbs. in 365 days as a senior three-year-old.

As is usual with great producers the new champion is a tremendous feeder, consuming twice as much hay as any other cow in the herd. This is in addition to her grain ration of one pound for every four pounds of milk produced.

Ingholm Rag Apple President is a daughter of Rockdale President, a Superior Type sire in the Artificial Breeding Unit of Eastern Breeders Inc., Kemptonville, Ontario. President has an average production on his 2609 two-year-old daughters of 10425 lbs. milk containing 421 lbs. fat, and testing 4.05 percent. He has 9 Excellent and 282 Very Good daughters with 59 percent of his classified daughters Good Plus or better. The dam of the new champion was sired by Roscoe Tip-top, a maternal brother of the famous Class Extra sire, ABC Reflection Sovereign. So obvious.

ly Ingholm Rag Apple President has the family credentials to justify her present exalted position in the bovine world.

The oldest son of the champion, Ingholm Rag Apple Markman, has remained at the home farm where he now has 35 daughters, while his two younger maternal brothers, Ingholm Kondyko and Ingholm Unit are now in service at the Quebec Artificial Insemination Centre at St. Hyacinthe.

The Printed Word

A peek at finances

At various times in this series we have referred briefly to the economics of the newspaper business, but only in general terms. Now that we have traced the path of the news stories and advertisements from the initial source to the final resting place—the reader's hands, we must put the whole thing in perspective from a financial aspect. It is all well to say that a paper reads well, is well printed or has lots of pictures, but if it does not produce sufficient revenue to pay the capital costs, salaries and running expenses, in addition to providing a return on investment, then it is a wasted effort.

fully determine why, and more important, keep an eye on the operating expenses, if these are watched with care, then most other factors will stay relatively in place.

In budgeting, first comes the revenue. The owner determines how much advertising lineage he feels will be sold in the three categories; how many papers will be sold; how much miscellaneous revenue will be realized, and how much printing will realize, if there is a print shop associated with the paper.

On the expense side, each portion of the operation is examined in detail. Budgets are established for the principal departments: composing room; press room; editorial; circulation; advertising; and general administration; plus print shop if needed.

In each of the first five paper departments, accounts are set up for salaries; production expense related to that particular department, that will reflect what its part in the overall expense is. In the general administration are included all fixed operating expenses, such as building repair; heating; insurance; unemployment and medical plan expenses; Canada Pension Plan portion; bank charges; legal fees; association memberships; stationery; postage; taxes; telephone; car expense; and others.

Once the total expense pattern is established, then comparing with the anticipated revenue, the owner can estimate his profit. If he feels it is not sufficient, two things can happen, revenue can be increased by rate increases and also paring can be done in the expense by examining possible staff cuts, or cutting back on other expense that could be eliminated without harming the total production picture.

By using this budget system, and on each monthly statement comparing monthly and yearly total from the last comparable period, it is possible to keep a very accurate picture before the owner at all times.

To translate each paper into dollars and cents, certain basic steps are followed, the only real variance being the number of people required according to the volume. National advertising is computed on a rate per line basis, with each inch composed of 14 "agate" lines, a term peculiar to newspaper accounting. Local advertising can be computed on an inch or agate line basis; classified ads are priced three ways—word ads at so much per word; classified display—good example real estate—at so much an inch or line and what are termed "business cards" (those that run every issue) at a fixed fee per month.

Adding the three types of advertising together gives a total dollar value for each paper. Circulation revenue comes from three sources also (if paper is large enough) carrier, dealer and mail subscriptions. Other revenue is computed on a per sale basis. Expenses are handled through two systems—accounts payable, and payment made on a weekly or monthly basis, or by cheque directly as the item occurs. This usually happens with items that occur infrequently.

To keep a check on this work, there are various report systems that can be established according to the individual or company requirements. These would include:

(A) LINEAGE REPORT—usually done four times a month, which reflects actual sold lineage with last year's and the same period last year.

(B) CIRCULATION REPORT—done monthly to reflect the same positions as lineage.

(C) BUDGET ANALYSIS—to determine the actual expense in each category. This is extremely helpful, if done properly, to set up budgets for the following year, as it gives operating details.

(D) LINE RATE REPORT—through an established formula, at budget time, it is predicted that line of the various advertising will cost so much to produce. The actual figures each month reflect how well the patterns are being developed and how close to budget the revenue and expense figures actually are. A major deviation from the predicted pattern allows for immediate investigation to see what is wrong.

There are various other reports that can be used, but would be meaningless to describe, as to the non-involved person it would be difficult to understand.

What this all amounts to, which can be applied to any business, is that by constant survey and analysis of revenue and expense, an owner or company can fairly accurately keep abreast of the financial picture and thus avoid difficulties.

This series has been presented in the hope that it will give an insight into the workings of a newspaper to some degree.

Madoc workshop

On Tuesday November 7, 1972, a workshop was held at Centre Hastings Secondary School. This workshop dealt with field trips in the local area and brought together a group of people from local business, teachers from all the local schools and several people from the Administration of the Hastings County Board of Education.

A luncheon was served to the guests who were at Centre Hastings school and a conducted tour of the school was given by several senior students. Mr. Beevor, the principal at Centre Hastings Secondary School welcomed the guests to the school, applauding and encouraging the involvement of community people in educational activities.

As an introduction, the film "Someday" was used to show different types of experiences. A list of the suggested problem areas encountered in operating field trips was used as a guide line. Discussion groups were formed with the business people and resource people meeting together for discussion about common problems and then the groups inter-relating to discuss methods of resolving some of these problems. Community resource people who attended the workshop were Mr. Ed Svoboda, and Mr. Cec. Solmes from Elaine Footwear in Stirling, Mr. Bill Faskin from the Ministry of Lands and Forests, Tweed and Mr. Al Burris. Mr. Don Deline represented the cheese industry while mining was represented by George Wistia, and Guy Robson from Marmora. Mr. Bob Nash attended from Stock-las R. Marble, Mr. Bob Kirkwood, Canada Tale and Mr. Bill Heenay from the Agricultural Research Station in Smithfield. It is the hope of all involved that the goal of the workshop will be met by improvement of field experiences for the students. It was agreed upon that the field experience was a very valuable program for the students and it was necessary to have people fully prepared, if the field experience is to be worthwhile.

PO needs 40,000 temporary help

Don't be alarmed if you see an unfamiliar postman at your door this Christmas. Every year during the festive season the Canada Post Office gives jobs to the unemployed and students to help move the mountains of greeting cards and parcels that jam postal outlets across the country.

A total of 46,593 people helped the regular staff of about 46,000 to cope with the Christmas avalanche in 1971. The women outnumbered the men by 26,005 to 20,588.

In the Toronto Post Office alone, 5,111 extra people were hired.

Post Office officials expect this Christmas that the part time help requirements will be somewhat the same, but local needs will determine how many people are hired.

Most of the extra help is engaged in sorting the mail with Christmas cards naturally accounting for most of the volume. But some work as letter carriers and others can be found loading and unloading mail bags or helping wicket clerks.

Generally, the Post Office starts using extra help on December 1st and continues to hire people for about another week, at which point the full complement of Christmas help is on hand. This lasts until about December 19, which is the end of the peak period for some Christmas postal operations.

After this date, the number of employees is gradually reduced although the last of the Christmas help might be retained until early in January.

Mount Pleasant

(By Mrs. Percy MacMullen)
On Sunday, Nov. 19th, the family of Mrs. Jane Yonkman spent the day in honor of her 80th birthday anniversary at the home of their sister, Mrs. John Talsma at Mount Pleasant. Those in attendance were Mr. and Mrs. Nick Yonkman and family, Binbrook; Mr. and Mrs. John Yonkman and family, Greenville; Mr. and Mrs. Toni Yonkman and family, Trenton; and Mr. and Mrs. Bert Yonkman and family, Belleville. Twenty-three people were in attendance for dinner and supper. Mr. John Talsma who has been a patient in Belleville General Hospital for the past week returned home on Thursday, Nov. 23rd.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Tamlin of Cambray, Ont., spent a few days at the home of their daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hoard and family.

On Monday evening, Nov. 20th, 15 Mount Pleasant people attended the 75th anniversary of Stirling Horticultural Society and enjoyed a smorgasbord supper and program in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church Hall.

On Saturday, Nov. 18th, Mrs. Robert Hoard and Miss Brenda Williams, leaders of Mount Pleasant 4-H Girls Club attended Achievement Day at Quinte Sec. ondary School. Miss Margaret Hoard received a County Honor Award for completing six projects. The current project was "The Club-Girl Entertainers." Others were Linda Hoard, Isabel Hoard, Kathy Grills, Joanne Hearn, Marlene Foshay and Diane Smith. Miss Heather Hoard took part in a Music Recital on Saturday evening, Nov. 25th, in the St. John A. McDonald School, Belleville.

Mrs. Percy MacMullen has an Easter lily with three large blooms. It was purchased at Easter time and after blooming the bulb was repotted and placed outside. In August it grew green foliage. Early in September the plant is now three feet high and has three lovely lily blooms. Baby Mark Wrightman, Rose-land Acres, spent a couple of days last week with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Milford Wrightman.

On Monday afternoon, Nov. 20, approximately 20 people from the Horticultural Society marks 75th anniversary

By Mrs. Percy MacMullen
Sunday evening November 20th was "a time to remember" when Stirling Horticultural Society observed their 75th Anniversary. One hundred and twenty adults enjoyed a smorgasbord pot luck supper in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church hall.

The tables were centred with colorful bouquets of mums, and larger bouquets added beauty around the room. The Society provided apples, lettered pencils and serviettes as souvenirs, and the Bank of Montreal donated note books and water tables were set for ten people. The group provided their own cutlery and one dish of food, and tea. The society provided fried chicken, but the celebration was held without any other expense for those in attendance.

Mount Pleasant community gathered at the home of Mrs. John Talsma and honored her mother on her 80th birthday anniversary. Mrs. James Hoard and Mrs. Ross Jeffs made out the recipient of a blue thermal blanket, matching flannel sheet and chocolates on behalf of all the ladies at Mount Pleasant. Mrs. Yonkman was also the recipient of 24 valued cards. She graciously voiced thanks for the remembrance.

Mrs. W. Graft made the birthday cake with Dutch decorations. Mrs. Talsma served angel cake, cookies and ice cream along with the birthday cake and the group enjoyed a social hour.

BethelUCW

The monthly meeting of Bethel U.C.W. was held at the home of Mrs. G. Sine, Stirling, on Nov. 23rd. Mrs. G. Russett welcomed all and read a few verses from the 4th chapter of Ephesians, and she also led in prayer. The roll call, a verse containing the word gift, was answered by 30 members and visitors. Items were brought to send in a bale to Toronto.

Mrs. E. Sine chose the theme "Missions" for the Worship Service. The hymn, "From Greenland's Icy Mountains" was followed by prayer. Mrs. D. Heath read the scripture taken from Acts 16, beginning at verse 10. "Provisional Hands" was the reading given by Mrs. L. Hagerman. "Rescue the Perishing" was sung. Mrs. E. Sine gave the meditation taking a look at the greatest convert and missionary of all time, Paul of Tarsus. If a church is not missionary, it is not fulfilling its purpose. A chorus of "I'll go where you want me to go" was sung.

During the business session the minutes and correspondence were read and dealt with. The treasurer, Mrs. Carlisle, gave a report concerning recent catering. Some projects for the future were discussed. The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. E. Ketchen on Dec. 14th. No gift exchange but a small donation of money is requested.

Mrs. O. Dracup gave an interesting talk of the changes in Africa. The African tribes used to stay together helping each other. Now the women, children and the elderly are left at home while the men go to the cities to find work. The minimum wage is about $1.00 a day. At first the men sent money home, but this gradually is peaking as the men drift into a life of drinking, brawls and squalor.

Mrs. B. Heagle read a few verses from 1 Corinthians, 11. Mesdames Clements, Holden, McGee, Ketchen and Wickens presented a skit, "Planning things for the U.C.W."

Mrs. Russett thanked the hostesses and those who helped with the meeting. The Benediction was repeated in unison. Mrs. Sine and helpers served a delicious lunch and a social time was enjoyed.

There were several invited guests on this auspicious occasion including the clergy of the village and their wives.

The main decoration was a large anniversary cake made by the society. This was decorated in white with pink roses and stenciled lettering. At the close of the meal the knife was placed in the cake by Mr. J.B. Belshaw, a veteran worker in the society and also a past president who had served in that capacity for 22 years, from 1916 to 1938. Mrs. Armstrong cut the cake which was then served to the guests.

The convenor of the November group, Mrs. Ashley Brooks, arranged the music for the evening and the convenor of the group of directors, Miss Gena Spry, was in charge of kitchen duties.

Miss Suzette Morgan, granddaughter of the president, was in charge of the guest book.

At seven o'clock, Rev. Roy Taylor, pastor of the church, gave the blessing and the president, Mrs. Floyd Armstrong, gave a welcome to all. The secretary, Mrs. John Doran read a telegram of greetings from Fred and Mildred Houchin in England. Fred served as president for 18 years, from 1939 to 1957, and was a valued worker in the society.

In 1940 he sponsored a special drive to have a membership of one hundred.

Previous to the cake ceremony Rev. Charles E. Staples, as toastmaster, proposed a toast to the Queen, and a second one to Stirling Horticultural Society in honour of their 75 years.

The president met the guests as they arrived and was mistress of ceremonies for the program. Mrs. Roy Taylor was musician and the hymn song, written by Phil Dodds in 1971, was sung Praise God for Gardeners Everywhere. A prayer written by Rev. W. Flinland of Niagara Falls, giving special thanks to all who in any way were promoting an ever widening love of beauty in our province, was read by the president. The head table guests were then introduced.

The secretary, Mrs. J. Doran, read the correspondence. It was regretted that Phil Dodds, Cherry Valley, past president of the Ontario Horticultural Association, was unable to be in attendance due to illness. In his letter he extended congratulations and commended the members for their efforts to beautify the parks in the village of Stirling. He also paid tribute to those people who in 1897 planted the seed, and to all those during the past years who have assisted with the continuing harvest of beauty. Mr. Dodds has donated a tree which will be planted in the coming year in the new arboretum at the University of Guelph. Stirling Society will be listed on the Honor Roll. This arboretum will cover 331 acres and all the societies will be given an opportunity to assist with this memorial tree idea.

A message from the Hon. George Hees, M.P., brought greetings and apologies that he had to be in Ottawa and could not attend. He enclosed a donation to the society.

Rev. James F. McGarvey, Frankford, sent congratulations and encouragement to continue the work of beautifying the village and regretted that he was unable to attend.

A member, Mrs. Lillie Hermon, Foxboro, sent greetings as she is spending the winter in Florida.

John DeVries entertained with several musical selections on his accordion throughout the program. Mrs. Harold West conducted the assembly singing which included "Sing a Song of Horticulture" and "The Gardener's Song".

Mr. R.F. Gomme, Provincial

Secretary, Parliament Buildings, Toronto, brought a special message on behalf of the Ontario Horticultural Association. He had received invitations to five groups who were observing anniversaries that evening - two were for 25 years, two for 50 years, and as Stirling was 75 years he decided that was the one he would attend. He brought greetings and best wishes to the Stirling group. He gave a very interesting arrangement of the letters contained in "Happy Birthdays" which stressed Horticulture, Agriculture, Planting Preparation, Youth, Beauty, Inspiration, Rejuvenation of vigor, Trees, Hope, Development, Age and Years.

Mrs. John Good read the historical account of Stirling Horticultural Society as published in their book in 1971. The first president in 1897 was Mrs. James Boldrich, Secretary, David Sager, and Treasurer, Mrs. F. Parker. The first venture was the Victoria Park site. Later, after the First World War, Memorial Park was purchased and a monument was placed. In 1937 Coronation Park came into being and trees were planted. This history is most interesting and there are numerous copies of the book throughout the village. She also read a list of the presidents, Mrs. Armstrong has served since 1961. Mrs. Harold West and Mrs. J. Lyall contributed two vocal duets "Thanks be to God" and "Moonlight and Roses".

Mr. Ross McMahon, Kingston, newly elected district director for District No. 3, brought greetings and best wishes. This was his first official duty since he was elected at the annual meeting in Belleville. He has the honor of presenting two framed awards on behalf of the provincial organization for Meritorious Service to the Stirling Society. The recipients were Mrs. Ray Rose and Mrs. Raymond McConnell.

Mrs. Armstrong introduced the 1972 officers as follows: Mrs. Raymond McConnell, Mrs. Ivan Caldwell, Mrs. John Doran, Mrs. Grant Hubble, Mrs. Lucille Bronson, Mrs. Harry Waite, Mrs. Corman Nix, Mrs. Percy McMillen and Mrs. Ray Rose. The directors were all in attendance and they too were introduced; Mr.

Wm. Ashby, Mr. Ernie Munro, Mrs. John Morgan, Mrs. Harry Waite, Mrs. Oscar Merrick, Mrs. Ed. Reynolds, Miss Gena Spry, Mrs. Margaret Ward, Mrs. Lindsay Sills, Mrs. Milford Wrightman.

Mrs. Ashley Brooks read a poem and the Anniversary party closed with the Royal Anthem. This completes the end of 1972 and the next meeting will be held on Monday, Jan. 15th, 1973 when the Nominating Committee will bring in the slate of officers. Seventy five years of service have gone by and may the members aim to promote beautification of the village and encourage horticultural interest in future years.
